LSU To Oppose Colorado Buffs In Orange Bowl

By DON WEISS Associated Press Sports Writer
Ohio State, Louisiana State, Arkansas, Colorado, UCLA, Penn State and possibly Missouri and Rice wrapped up or closed in on post-season bowl appointments Saturday despite an upset-marked climax to the regular college football season.
The hopes of Minnesota and Maryland were dashed in defeat — third-ranked Minnesota to Wisconsin 23-21 and Maryland to two-touchdown underdog Virginia, 28-16.
Arkansas accepted an invitation to play in the New Orleans Sugar Bowl, probably against Alabama, the nation's No. 1 team, after routing Texas Tech 28-0. The Porkers thus tied Cotton bowl-bound Texas for the Southwest Conference title.
LOUISIANA STATE AND COLORADO set up a meeting in the Miami Orange Bowl; the Bengals in a 62-0 humiliation of Tulane and Colorado, the Big Eight champion, in a 34-0 romp over Iowa State. Louisiana State's date is definite, although it can not formally accept until Dec. 2. Colorado was the Orange Bowl's selection under its commitment with the Big Eight, following Kansas' upset loss to Missouri, 10-7.
Alabama, idle this week, announced Saturday afternoon its team had voted to accept a Sugar Bowl bid—Rose Bowl overtures to the contrary — if one is forthcoming. That's about as "iffy" a proposition as death and taxes. With the unbeaten, top-ranked Crimson Tide staying near home, the Rose Bowl visiting team likely will be second-ranked Ohio State, which wound up unbeaten but once tied with a 50-20 triumph over Michigan and another Big Ten title.
Minnesota, also unbeaten in the Big Ten before Saturday, lost it all—the title and a possible Rose Bowl trip—in the loss to Wisconsin on Jim Bakken's 31-yard field goal.
The Rose Bowl host will be UCLA, which beat southern California 10-7 to nail the Big Five title.

Second Fire Sweeps Air Force Base Officials Check Possibility Of Arson, Sabotage

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Three buildings were leveled and a fourth damaged Saturday in the second million-dollar fire at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in four days. A base spokesman said officials were routinely checking the possibility of arson or sabotage.
"We always do, we always investigate for arson," said Maj. Ronald Green, base public information officer. "We'd be a darn poor base if we didn't."
THREE OVERCOME
Green said cause of the fire in a five-building complex was not determined. The complex housed the orientation unit which makes and exhibits Air Force displays throughout the United States.
A base spokesman said the loss might total $1 million.
A fireman and two airmen who helped battle the blaze were overcome by smoke and treated and released from the base hospital. No one else was injured.
Four barracks for enlisted men were not touched by the flames. The barracks, normally housing 200 men each, were about 50 feet from the burning frame structures. Few men were in the barracks since most had been given holiday passes.
The fire roared out of control for more than two hours.
It started in a building housing machine and sheet metal shops, communication and electrical.

Big Nuclear Carrier To Begin Duty

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—The giant carrier Enterprise went on active duty Saturday and Navy Secretary John B. Connally said she would reign, at least for the near future, as the country's only nuclear carrier.
Connally told more than 13,000 persons present for the formal commissioning ceremonies that the Navy, in its constant effort to economize, would recommend its next carrier be powered by conventional fuels.
"There is little doubt that we will desire more nuclear carriers at some date in the future," when a way is found to cut both the size and cost, the Navy secretary said. But until then, he said, the Enterprise "is one of a kind—not in any sense a prototype for a family of ever larger, more expensive sister ships."
As a symbol of the continuation of the proud name Enterprise, the jack and the national flag last flown by the famous World War II Enterprise were hoisted during the ceremonies.
Although the Navy will not ask that its next carrier be nuclear-powered, Connally said, the Enterprise, the nuclear cruiser Long Beach and a still-to-be-completed nuclear frigate will form a task group able to travel the equivalent of five non-stop trips around the world at top speed.
Already, he said, the Enterprise has "performed engineering miracles"—a reference to the announcement that during her builder's trials she ripped through the sea at more than 40 miles an hour, the speed of a fast destroyer.

Navy Says Polaris 'Perfect' In Tests

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The missing their targets by wide margins, Navy revealed Saturday that its submarine-launched Polaris missile scored a "10-for-10" on-target performance that rivals the accuracy record achieved by the Air Force's land-based Atlas.
The disclosure means the United States now can deliver a nuclear punch from a U-boat cruising under 1,200 miles away from its target.
The Air Force announced in 1960 that 14 Atlas intercontinental missiles had landed within two miles of the bullseye at distances of more than 5,000 miles.
Navy Secretary John B. Connally's announcement of the successful Polaris tests went far to remove doubts stirred by unofficial reports that four of every 10 shots from underwater last spring were

Berlin Talks By Ministers Likely Soon East-West Meet Is Predicted For Early Next Year

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's talks Saturday night with French President Charles de Gaulle apparently increased the likelihood of an East-West foreign ministers' conference on Berlin early next year. Diplomatic sources said the pendulum seemed to be swinging that way. They based their assessment on a patchwork of developments, none of them conclusive. This was the available evidence.

EXCHANGE VIEWS

—Macmillan and De Gaulle obviously were having a friendly exchange of views in the English countryside. The two men themselves were the only ones to know how much progress they had made in knitting together an agreed policy line, but an impression prevailed that De Gaulle will agree to talks with the Soviet Union if these are limited as far as possible to the Berlin problem.
—West Germany's new foreign minister, Gerhard Schröder, indicated that East-West talks may take place as early as January or February. Schröder accompanied Chancellor Konrad Adenauer during discussions recently with President Kennedy in Washington. On returning to Bonn, Schröder reported to a private meeting of the parliamentary delegation of Adenauer's Christian Democratic party.
—Soviet Premier Khrushchev has made a move which he at least might think will hurry up negotiations.

Khrushchev suddenly removed his own pressure on Finland. He told Finnish President Risto Rytty that the Soviet government for the time being is willing to postpone the military consultations it had demanded from Finland.
The connection between this happening in the Siberian city of Novosibirsk and the talks between Macmillan and De Gaulle at Birch Grove appear at first glance to be extremely tenuous.
The question before Macmillan and De Gaulle was whether to negotiate with the Soviet Union over Berlin or cold shoulder Khrushchev until he shows a more conciliatory attitude.
All along De Gaulle has maintained that Western talks with the

The general agreement seems to be that a "soaper" shelter is a great idea for the other fellow, even though the other fellow would want to come around trying to get into his shelter.

Clue Spurs Search For Rockefeller

HOLLANDIA, Dutch New Guinea (AP)—The discovery of a gasoline tank floating off New Guinea's southern coast Saturday intensified a massive air, land and sea search for Michael Rockefeller, 23.
It was the first possible clue to the fate of the missing son of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

NOT IDENTIFIED

However, it was not immediately known whether the tank was the same one young Rockefeller coupled with an empty gasoline can to fashion a float when he set out last Sunday to swim the 3½ miles to shore from his capsized native craft.
The failure of the many planes and ships crisscrossing the sea-search area to find the can and tank had spurred hopes that young Rockefeller had made it safely to shore through the shark-infested waters.
The development prompted the governor to extend his stay for an undisclosed period in the area where his son vanished while on a relic hunting expedition in one of the remotest areas of the world. The governor had planned to fly home Sunday.
F. R. J. Eibrink Jansen, Dutch commissioner in southern New Guinea, said earlier that if

West Coast Gets Heavy Snow, Rain

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cold, gusty winds buffeted the western states Saturday and snow or locally heavy rains drenched recently parched regions of California.
Snow fell in parts of southern Oregon on the heels of a rain storm Friday that sent the South Fork Rogue River spilling out of its banks. Freezing weather nipped parts of Washington.
A total of 37 inches of snow piled up at Weed, Calif. A few television aerials were damaged but plows kept roads open.
To the north, snow continued to fall at Klamath, Ore. with 15 inches on the ground. The snow was generally in eastern Oregon.
The snow in Oregon brought one of the first good week ends for skier. However, one of the best areas, Mt. Bachelor near Bend, Ore., was isolated until plows could clear a path through Sunday morning.
Los Angeles had from one fourth to one half inch of rain in 24 hours.
Snow fell on Montana and north Idaho, and extended southward into portions of northern California.

Tshombe Pledges Total Resistance If Force Is Used

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—President Moise Tshombe warned Saturday any attempt to end Katanga's secession by force would be met by force "even if the whole Katanga population—black and white—has to die."
Tshombe called a special news conference to reply to the U. N. Security Council resolution adopted Friday declaring Katanga's secession from the central Congolese government must be ended "by force if necessary."
"A policy of violence will be met by violence," Tshombe told newsmen. "We are prepared for any negotiation and solution of the (secession) problem by peaceful means. However, if we are attacked we will reply with force."
GIVES WARNING
"If the United Nations forces a repetition of the events of Sept. 19, it will be the United Nations' fault and the new secretary-general, U. Thant, will bear more responsibility for what happens than did the late Mr. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld."
Tshombe was referring to an attempt by U. N. forces in September to forcibly carry out a U. N. resolution calling for the ouster of white mercenaries from Katanga's army. Bitter fighting broke out, ending a week later in a truce that left Katanga's secession as strong as ever.
In Brussels, the newspaper La Dernière Heure quoted Tshombe as saying in a telephone interview "there are no foreigners in the Katanga army."
Tshombe said his Cabinet met for three hours to review Katanga's position in view of the latest U. N. action. Meanwhile tensions rose in Elisabethville.

Traffic Toll For Holiday Period Low

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Traffic deaths surged over the 300 mark late Saturday as the long Thanksgiving holiday weekend entered its final quarter.
Still to come was the final day's volume of homeward-bound travelers, the period regarded most warily by safety officials.
The traffic toll since the 102-hour tabulating period began at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday totaled 302. Fires claimed 31 lives and 59 others died in miscellaneous accidents for a total of 391 deaths.
Seven airmen were involved in a single car accident in California Saturday. Two were killed and five injured when their car skidded during a rainstorm and crashed into a tree near Perris.
The 102-hour holiday period ends, for tabulating purposes, at midnight Sunday.

Voter Suit Hearing Set For Monday

In Leopoldville, the U. N. Command abandoned as "inopportune" (Continued On Page Two-A)
The federal government is seeking an injunction against East Carroll Parish Registrar of Voters Cecil Manning and the State of Louisiana when the Federal District Court convenes Monday in Monroe.
The government is seeking the injunction to prohibit the registrar from requiring Negroes to be identified by an affidavit either executed or signed by two registered voters living in the precinct where the person resides.
The federal government claims that this is an act of discrimination, according to Thompson Clarke, counsel to the defendant, and district attorney of East Carroll and Tensas Parishes.
On the other hand, Clarke added, the defendant contested that the same requirement is made by the registrar of white applicants who are not known to him.
Defense counsel will consist of Attorney General of Louisiana, Jack Gremillion, special assistant to the attorney general Harry Eron, and Clarke.
Judge Ben C. Dawkins will preside at the hearing.

Careers In Fishing

It is the only time the average student thinks seriously of a career in connection with fishing. When he is called a "fish" by his classmates or when some one calls him a "poor fish" or "queer fish," he is nevertheless, an attractive prospect. The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries commission says promising and profitable "careers" in commercial fishing are almost as numerous as the cables on a fishing boat.

This booklet shows that careers in Louisiana's fishing industry offer high school and college graduates unusual opportunity.

There are many types of careers available but opportunities for the ambitious person to make a salary comparable to other types of industry. The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries commission says:

"The high school and college graduate will do well in biology, agriculture, chemistry, engineering and geology, top-paying jobs are to be found for properly trained individuals. In most cases, advanced college degrees, on the master's and doctor's level, are needed in the research and development branches of the industry."

"In the producing and processing phases of the industry new processes are waiting to be developed. New ideas may change the complete face of the industry."

As the commission points out, one decided advantage in the commercial fishing industry in Louisiana is that Mother Nature replenishes the supply, if man observes the natural laws of wild life. Unfortunately, this is not true of some of our natural resources, in which, when the present supply is used there will be no more.

Louisiana's five million acres of coastal marsh and its vast network of inland coastal waters provide a natural environment for a thriving commercial fishing industry.

Among its principal products are shrimp, oysters, menhaden, crabs, crawfish, shells and sport fishing. Included among its most productive fish are red fish, speckled trout, flounder, red snapper, and channel bass. The food fish industry has only begun to be developed.

Just as other industries require initiative, intelligence and training, so do many phases of the operation of the commercial fishing industry require these characteristics. There are many areas which are overdue for scientific approach. The future can be bright for those who have a real interest in the fascinating and rewarding fishing field.

Some of the best opportunities in commercial fishing are found in the following lines: fishery biologist, chemist and bio-chemist, biology specialist, seafood trawler owner, boat captain, oyster fisherman, seafood handler and processor, mechanical engineering, home economist, menhaden processing, shell processor, pet food industry, pet fish industry, biology lecturer, technical and sports writing, fishing equipment, recreational fishing, lakes and ponds, charter boats, taxidermy, biological supply houses and marketing.

Much information on these various lines of endeavor can be obtained from the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries commission, which has principal offices at 400 Royal Street in New Orleans but which also has eight district offices, some of which are within easy reach of almost everyone.

Many believe that eventually the sea will become the world's biggest source of food supply. Already tremendous strides have been made in that direction, but we are really only at the beginning.

Undoubtedly, the fishing industry offers one of the greatest opportunities for those who are trying to decide which career to choose.

Writes Dean Rusk

To the Editor:
I am 14 years old and a freshman at Neville High School in Monroe, Louisiana.
Enclosed is a letter to Mr. Dean Rusk, Secretary of State, concerning the newly adopted United States disarmament program and the Congo situation.
Please print the enclosed letter in your column "Views of Our Readers" in the Sunday edition of your paper.
Thank you,
PEGGY WINDHAM
Secretary of State Dean Rusk
Washington, D. C.
Dear Mr. Rusk:

I am 14 years old and attend Neville High School where I am classified as a freshman. I take Civics and my teacher, Mr. John Taylor, has inspired me to pay more attention to current events.
Recently, an article in the newspaper came to my attention regarding the disarmament program the United States has adopted. If the United States leaves itself open, as it states in the disarmament program, the enemies of the United States could easily send only a few bombers and missiles and wipe us out entirely, while we are organizing our Civil Defense and launching our Strategic Air Command (SAC). It is unnecessary for me to say what would take place if this happened. If the people of the United States were informed and were given a copy of this program, you would receive so much mail that you would be unable to read it all.
Mr. Rusk, please reconsider this program. Think of its effects both psychologically and physically. I believe that your opinion would be the same as mine.
Another point in the news which also came to my attention was the way the United Nations is supporting the leftist leader of the Republic of the Congo, Antoine Gizenga. How can we expect to spread freedom and halt communism if we support a leftist like this?
Adlai E. Stevenson is also supporting this pro-communist leader, while Moise Tshombe, the president of Katanga Province, is against communism and all it represents and is in desperate need of help from the United States. He doesn't want anything to do with these communists, but the United Nations with the full support of the United States is trying to make Mr. Tshombe turn his province over to the Republic of Congo and again become a part of this double-dealing communist leader, Gizenga.

If you will remember the Cuban situation, Batista, a full supporter of freedom desperately needed help. What did the United States do? Turned their backs on him and his followers. This was helping Castro, as we now know. Please try to help to see that history doesn't repeat itself. Help Mr. Tshombe. Help the spread of freedom.
Thank you,
PEGGY WINDHAM

Thank you for your letters to the editor, November 19, 1961. Things are looking up when we hear from the "common people." ## Is Ignorance Bliss?

To the Editor:
Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "Ignorance is bliss," if that is the right definition of ignorance the world shall surely become blissful. Perhaps that is the answer to our political problems today. I believe if our statesman had looked far enough into the future to have visualized a world in turmoil, a turmoil such as we are in today on account of our commitments in the U. N. they would have acted upon it as the Republican Congress did upon Woodrow Wilson's League of Nations. But I don't believe they thought they were committing themselves to a world confederacy, and that the U. N. charter would abrogate our own constitution and become the supreme law of the land. In this instance it appears that ignorance is pensive, not blissful.
As a member of the United Nations what position are we in today? If Russia makes war upon us we are "hog tied," colloquially speaking. Some other member, a communist sympathizer, can call a conference and send U. N. troops to police our own homes as they have in Congo, Katanga, and Korea. Considering the present world condition, I suggest that our congressmen eject us from the United Nations before we become a United Fatality.
J. P. WALLER.

About General Walker

To the Editor:
With reference to an article of last Sunday in The Morning World, in which the author asked that we examine the other side of the story of General Walker's story, printed in your paper.
The general was in line of his duty in combating the elements of his opposition, it seems obvious, when we realize he is muzzled from doing the very thing he is trusted, by the opponents, of the communistic force standing within feet and yards of each other. Being a general of proven ability in technique, tact, and tenacity, the talent the general displayed in organizing a training program to inform, instruct, his soldiers, in the tactics of cold, hot, political, social, economical, unified warfare, with our pronounced, enemies is most commendable.
As to the military justice codes, rules and regulations, and the comparison with our Constitution, are for the same purpose when properly applied. But on the other hand they can be as much abused privilege, by invoking of one as the other. What has been over ridden, trampled upon, disregarded, traduced than our Constitution of U.S.? How can you compare the fifth amendment gang, of defendants without considering their motives, for resorting to the protection, against their acts of crimes, in violation of the

Commend Police

To the Editor:
Recently I heard that some of the Monroe police were complaining about the Monroe police being so strict in arresting drunken drivers, saying it would ruin business away from Monroe. As an out-of-town customer I was completely astonished to hear this statement. I would be afraid to come to Monroe to shop if drunken drivers were unleashed against the people, and I would like to take this opportunity to commend your Monroe Police in their efforts to enforce the drunken driving law. The downtown merchants do have a problem due to shopping centers at the edge of town with plenty of parking space, and I always make it a point to shop downtown, but I do not believe leniency for drunken drivers is a solution to their problem.
Yours very truly,
MRS. R. B. TROMATER

To the Editor:
"The time has come to speak of many things."
This cycle of time is rapidly drawing to a close. We are faced with local, state, national and world problems. These problems when broken down, simply mean, are we doing good, or are we doing evil?
When we look at world problems, we are faced with the Commie idea of no God and all evil, or the United States' spiritual idea of doing good and living in a free state.
When we took look at the different persons who cause these ideas to come to battle with each other, we are getting down to the basic problems to be solved.
The editors in these United States have used their papers to slant the news to color their own ideas and ambitions.
The time has come to call a spade a spade. The time has come for the editors to "put the bite" on any or all persons in local, state or federal government that speak out for the Commies.
The time has come when (in a few short years) the earth will have its fate lifted.
If you have love for your fellow man in your heart, lay aside some of your personal ambitions and start calling a spade a spade. Start exposing the TRUTH as the TRUTH stands. Start planning to leave this earth a free state for future generations. Start praying for God to give you strength and the guts to make this come true. Help give America back to the Americans.
Thank you.
Sincerely yours,
CLAUDE SPOONHOUR

Dear Judge Harper:

Committee

To the Editor:
We would like to announce the formation of the Committee for the Connally Amendment. The purpose of this committee is to alert and inform the citizens of this country of the attempts which are to be made to surrender our national sovereignty through repeal of the Connally Amendment. This amendment allows us to decide which questions involving us shall come under the jurisdiction of the World Court. The prime movers in the proposed amendment claim that acceptance of such jurisdiction will create a "international peace" through international law. Such claims fail to meet critical examination for several reasons, among which are:

(1) There is no international law. A court per se has no meaning unless there is some body of law on the basis of which it may act. Law comes first, not a court. This court can, as presently set up, do anything that comes into its collective head. It is true that, at present, only two of the fifteen court members are from completely Communist countries. But only three are from countries which have the common law, and this includes our member, Philip Jessup.

(2) The judges are selected by concurrent action of the General Assembly and the Security Council. The General Assembly is being run by a flood of subsistent nations, who if not Red, are there often neutralist or pro-Red. Even were the Communist membership kept to two — which is extremely doubtful — the developing chaos of the court points toward chaos, not peace, if we accept jurisdiction.

(3) When we speak of peace through law we fail to name the international source of unrest, of war, and of general trouble making. The fountain head is Soviet Russia. Are we going to be foolish enough to suppose that Russia will accept the jurisdiction of this court? If she will not, then all this peace through law is simply nonsense. It can, in the long run, only serve the cause of Russia herself.

(4) Our national sovereignty is the only thing that protects our freedoms.

We of this Committee urge our fellow Americans to join us in opposing the repeal of the Connally Amendment.

Sincerely yours,
R. G. Breene, Jr.
Executive Secretary

Constitutional provided statutes, mis - applying its purpose solely for the expressed purpose of defense of the most treacherous crimes, they were proven to have committed. What is more obvious, than the subservient, consistent, record of the decisions of the Supreme Court of the U. S. in thwarting our constitutional laws, and jurisprudence, that has been the very heart and soul of the posterity, of our forefathers in establishing this one so great a nation. When we reflect in our minds, the spirit of the framers of the laws of this country, connecting it with the statement, of Cotton Mather, the priest who came aboard with the Pilgrims as they entered the Mayflower as they were embarking for setting up this nation, that they may be out of bondage and a free nation. Turning to the 2nd Samuel 7:10 verse of the Bible. Read: If interested in connecting the true spiritual aspect of God's chosen people, read it yourself. I don't know what it means to anyone else, but it means to me that I have a great growing, responsibility as I assume General Walker realizes he has. The general did something about it. When he was muzzled so that he couldn't do anything about it he removed the restraint of his "muzzled position" to become a better and bigger soldier, in defending the sacred rights of America, and us all from destruction, of these multiple forces of international intrigue, operating through the U. N.

Our congress, public institutions can not escape their responsibilities for our predicament. Neither can the individual over look the indifferent complacency attitude of negligence, in being closes in touch with his public servants, (supposedly) in representing the public.

The columns of the press, that is written in defense of the American people is to be appreciated and encouraged for their contributions that will in time awaken the people to the facts they so long have been deprived from for lack of publications. May the best fortune, come to you, General Walker and the contributions of our alert papers.

WASHINGTON SHORTS

NEEDED: GOOD LEGS—Democrats have made a grim joke aimed at the opposition party to the effect that "Candidates Must Run, Not Walk." It is aimed at both former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and James P. Mitchell, unsuccessful nominees for governor of New Jersey. Early in the 1960 presidential campaign, Nixon seriously injured his leg, banging it against a car door and was confined to the hospital for two weeks before he could start his speaking campaign. It slowed him up throughout the campaign and his intimates thought it chiefly responsible for some of his lesser speaking performances, including the television debates. Mitchell broke his leg several months before the election, a fact which seriously affected his campaign activity. The moral to this story is obvious: politicians should keep their bones intact.

RECOMMENDED PEDIGREE — Senators Francis Case and Karl Mundt, both Republicans of South Dakota, couldn't have been happier at the fine words spoken by that stalwart of the New Frontier, Interior Secretary Stewart Udall. At a speech in South Dakota, Udall spoke in glowing terms of the many fine qualities of the State. Among other things, he said, South Dakota should be proud of two senators who were born in this great State. Mundt and Case looked at one another and smiled. "I refer, of course, to Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico and Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, both of whom were born in South Dakota," Udall told his audience.

PRESSURE ON RIBICOFF — Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Abraham Ribicoff is again under pressure to make the race for Democratic nomination for United States Senator from Connecticut. Mayor Richard G. Lee of New Haven, organization favorite for the Senate race, barely squeaked through for reelection and lost ground as a Senate prospect. Democrats are anxious to take seat of Republican United States Senator Prescott Bush, and regard Ribicoff as their best hope.

BUNCHE CANDIDACY (?) — Philosophy behind talk in Kennedy Administration circles of Ralph Bunche, Negro, as Democratic nominee for Governor of New York against Nelson Rockefeller, Republican, in 1962 is: No Democrat is going to come within from a half to three - quarters of a million votes of defeating Rockefeller anyway. Bunche, as Democratic nominee, the first Negro ever given such a nomination in any State, would solidify the Negro vote of the nation behind Kennedy and against Rockefeller, who Democrats now think will be the 1964 Republican residential nominee.

Rockefeller's Search

New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller's search for his missing son, 23-year-old Michael, is filled with pathos. Regardless of political beliefs, everyone, particularly parents, cannot fail to sympathize with him. Those who have children of their own have some idea of what he is going through.

When he took off by plane for Dutch New Guinea, Nelson Rockefeller threw off the robe of governor and put on the mantle of father. The fact that he was governor of the most populous state in these big United States could not lessen the anguish.

One advantage he does possess and that is having enough money to make the extremely long trip and to conduct a minute personal search for his son. In the face of hopelessness, those to whom the missing young man means little might be willing to give up. The father, even through he may eventually interrupt the hunt, will never give up hope entirely unless there is proof of his son's death.

The same is true of the young man's mother. Although comparatively little has been said about Mrs. Rockefeller and she apparently did not go to join in the search, there can be no doubt of what her mother love is compelling her to go through as hope diminishes that her son is alive.

Announcement that young Rockefeller was lost came close on the heels of a news release saying the older Rockefeller and his wife had separated after a marriage of 31 years. Apparently the son knew nothing of this, although at first there were those who surmised that he might have undertaken the dangerous voyage for that reason.

There has been speculation that the separation might damage Rockefeller's political career. Right now he probably would give up that career for the life of his son.

Monty Goes Wrong Way

A court of law has finally determined something about Field Marshal Montgomery that a good many people have known for a long time. It fined him $28 in a London court a few days ago after he pleaded guilty to driving in the wrong direction on a one-way street.

In recent years, Marshal Montgomery has been saying, "Everybody was out of step but me." One of his chief gripes is that General Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander in chief of the allied forces in World War II, didn't conduct the war the way Monty would have done. Of course, these comments have been largely inspired by jealousy because Eisenhower, and not Monty, was chosen commander in chief.

Even before his arrest, Monty had been going the wrong way for quite a long time. Since he visited Red China and conferred with Mao, he has been prattling about the "democracy" and "great objectives" of that nation's leaders. If he likes Red China, we wonder why he wanted to do a better job than Eisenhower did in whipping Germany.

Anyhow, Wrong-way Monty has had to pay in court.

DeWitt Clinton, governor of New York and father of the Erie Canal, was instrumental in founding the state's first savings bank in 1819.

AEROSPACE

Symposium At Tech This Week

RUSTON (Special) — Co-sponsored by the AFA Aerospace Education and Louisiana Tech, an Aerospace Education Symposium gets underway here Thursday and continues through Friday.

Major General Chester E. McCarty, deputy chief Air Force Reserve, will be principal speaker. General McCarty, 64, went to the Pentagon in November, 1959 from Robins Air Force Base in Georgia where he was commander of the Fourteenth Flying Tiger Air Force. The topic of his talk will be "Space Industry and Armed Services Accelerated Demands for Technically Qualified High School and College Graduates."

During World War II, General McCarty, a resident of Portland, Ore., served with the Air Transport Command as a staff officer and later as commander of a chain of air bases in the Middle East. In the Korean War he directed the Korean Air Force, and personally led many major combat troop drops and airifts.

The symposium was scheduled for the purpose of serving educators of colleges and high schools with technical and philosophical information to help them connect the current teaching resources and the rapid developments of the new space age.

The Scout missile, a four-stage, solid-propellant rocket, will be displayed in a sealed down model at the symposium. The Scout was the nation's first solid-fueled rocket ever to place a payload in orbit when it sent aloft Explorer IX on February 16, 1961. The Scout is expected to become a major research tool for a wide variety of National Aeronautics and Space Administration space projects.

Over 400 persons will be served by the symposium. Included will be school administrators, science teachers and professors, city, parish and state education officers and school boards, industry and business leaders, science and engineering students, priests and preachers.

The symposium is co-sponsored by the AFA Aerospace Education Foundation and Louisiana Tech.

Reds Charge 'Smuggling' Try By U.S.

BERLIN (UPI)—The Communists accused the United States Saturday of trying to smuggle an East German criminal to West Germany and said this was interference in East Germany's domestic affairs.

However, the Communists made no threats to interfere with Allied military traffic over the rail line linking West Berlin with the West.

The Communist statement in the official party newspaper Neues Deutschland referred to an incident Thursday when a west-bound Army duty train was held up 15 hours at the Soviet Marienborn checkpoint while Soviet border guards looked for the refugee.

West Berlin police reported meanwhile that 11 men aged 17 to 23 escaped to West Berlin during the past 24 hours despite the increasing Communist border precautions. A report from Bad Hersfeld said an East German major in the "people's army" fled to the West while on border patrol.

The British built a 15-foot high observation tower to look over the Communist wall at Brandenburg gate which the Communists have heavily fortified with tank traps and higher walls and stronger barricades.

There still was no official explanation of the surprise visit Friday by the Soviet commandant in Berlin, Col. A. V. Solovyev, to the American commandant, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II.

First belief was that Solovyev came to West Berlin to protest the train incident. Later there was speculation the Russians were seeking a Berlin truce until the West ends its talks on the divided city.

Survey Slated On Relocation Of Road Stretch

JONESVILLE (Special) — The Louisiana Department of Highways has agreed to make an alternate survey in the relocation of U. S. Highway 84 west of Jonesville according to Senator J. C. "Sonny" Gilbert who met with a committee of the Jonesville Lions Club relative to the matter.

A present survey made by the department in the improvement program of U. S. Highway 84 from Jonesville to Whitehall necessitated the removal of a couple of homes and a barn in the curve just west of Jonesville.

The Lions club, in a resolution, had asked the department to reconsider the possibility of relocating the highway farther east thereby eliminating the necessity of moving the homes of the residents involved.

Senator Gilbert said the department would conduct a survey "from a point beginning where Highway 84 leaves the North right-of-way line of the Louisiana Midland near the Glynn Ditch running easterly to the town of Jonesville."

Gilbert said that "upon the completion of this survey in approximately 45 days, I will meet again with the committee from the Lions club to discuss the situation further." The survey should begin within 10 days it was stated.

The committee appointed by Lions President Ted Huser on the project included George Griffin, Bob Cotton, Barney Cain, J. G. Womack, G. D. Babin, A. D. Taylor Jr. and Henry Taliaferro.

Soviet Tests Of Warheads Are Reported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Available evidence indicates the Soviet Union has been testing nuclear warheads for anti-missile weapons in space, official sources said Saturday.

They also said the Russians have staged a number of underground atomic blasts since they broke the test moratorium last Sept. 1.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean told the United Nations General Assembly Friday that Russia had conducted about 50 tests during the series.

The White House and Atomic Energy Commission had reported only 31 Soviet explosions. Of these, 30 were in the atmosphere. One explosion occurred under water south of the Russian Novaya Zemlya test site in the Arctic.

The AEC refused to give any information about the additional Soviet tests reported by Dean. Informal sources left little doubt, however, that some of them were space shots and that others took place underground.

One expert noted that most of the Soviet tests, including a 25-megaton bomb of Oct. 23 and the 55-00 megaton monster bomb detonated Oct. 30, were conducted in the Arctic.

"These were not just nuclear 'devices' calling for precise instrumentation. Weather conditions at Novaya Zemlya preclude related experiments in nuclear physics," this expert said.

"These were proof tests of weapons. You can be sure the Russians want an anti-missile missile as much as we do. You can be sure they tested anti-missile weapons."

This country plans a space duel next year between a Nike Zeus anti-missile missile launched from Kwajalein in the Marshall Islands and an Atlas warhead launched from the California end of the Pacific missile range.

The Nike Zeus may carry a nuclear warhead if President Kennedy agrees with U. S. military authorities.

Pair Rescued From Sandbar

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Coast Guard said Saturday that two New Orleans residents picked up from a sandbar near their disabled cabin cruiser were in "pretty good condition" although they hadn't eaten in two days.

A helicopter took Henry Savoca, 44, taxicab driver, and Evelyn Ruby, 20, to Delacroix Island from where they set off Thanksgiving day.

The board, which ran aground after losing a propeller, was left behind.

FRED GOERNER, newsman, looks at sealed box containing skeletal remains found in a shallow grave on Saipan. The box arrived Saturday at San Francisco's International Airports. Some believe the remains may be those of famed aviatrix Amelia Earhart and her navigator Fred Noonan who disappeared in the Pacific in 1937 while on a globe-circling flight. Goerner said Dr. Theodore D. McCown, professor of anthropology at the University of California in Berkeley, has agreed to study them. (AP Wirephoto)

FOUND ON SIAPAN

Check Of Skeletal Remains To Begin

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Did Amelia Earhart die on a lonely Pacific atoll that was later to become a World War II battlefield?

A University of California anthropologist will begin Monday a monumental task of detective work that may determine the answer.

Prof. Theodore McCown will try to determine whether fragments of human bone and 57 human teeth found on the island of Saipan are the remains of the famed, blonde-haired aviatrix and navigator Fred Noonan.

Miss Earhart and Noonan disappeared over the Pacific in July, 1937, in a twin-engine Lockheed Electra while trying to fly around the world. A huge naval search failed to find a trace of them.

The bones and teeth were found in an unmarked grave on Saipan by newsman Fred Goerner of radio station KGBS San Francisco. "We definitely hope to determine who these people are," Goerner said.

Amelia's sister, Mrs. Muriel Earhart Morrissey, told me she is still trying to get hold of Amelia's dental charts.

"Even if there are no dental charts, I understand anthropologists can do amazing things. McCown told me it is possible to identify people from just one or two bones. Sometimes it's done by observing the way a tracture

Firemen Probe Explosion, Fire Fatal For Man

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — The cause of an explosion and fire which claimed the life of a Redstone Arsenal employee was sought Saturday by firemen examining the debris of the victim's home.

Leon J. Kellum, 26, died Friday night when the brick walls of his house fell in on him while he was in the basement. Two sons, David Kellum, 7, and Ronnie Kellum, 3, were rescued from the burning home by a neighbor, Michael Gratzak, but suffered second and third degree burns.

Gratzak, who lived just a few doors away, said he heard the explosion and saw flames shoot

PHYSICAL ACTIVITIES

Winter Program Scheduled By 'Y'

The Twin Cities Young Men's one-time "summer sport" to be Christian Association will begin enjoyed throughout the winter its annual winter program of months.

physical activities tomorrow in Special hours will be arranged their building on Glenmar Avenue.

The winter program will be much like fall program with a few additions to the courses available.

According to George Smith, physical director of the local organization, the newest courses added for the winter season are boxing and special instructions in competitive swimming.

In addition to boxing classes, swimming will again be one of the highlights of the season. Beginning swimming lessons will be taught in the heated pool.

Swimming will not be confined to lessons alone. During prescribed periods of the day the pool will be open to allow the persons have shown interest. Officials of the YMCA urge anyone interested in their physical programs to contact the offices located on Glenmar Avenue.

Smith pointed out that the program will actually be a continuation of the fall program as far as the gym, trampoline, and weight lifting classes are concerned.

Basketball, usually associated with the winter months, will also be in full swing at the YMCA this season.

An adult league has already been formed consisting of five teams and other teams are urged to join the league.

French Senate Rejects New Algeria Budget

PARIS (AP) — The French Senate rejected the proposed 1962 Algerian budget Saturday after criticism of President de Gaulle's Algerian policy from speakers of both the right and the left.

The more powerful National Assembly, however, has approved the budget and is empowered to take final action on it if the senators persist in their opposition through a second vote and then joint committee consideration.

The government proposes to earmark nearly $1.1 billion for Algeria. That is slightly more than this year's expenditures. The Senate vote against the budget was 135-62.

Senators applauded loudly when Francois Mitterrand of the Democratic Left said the government "makes just enough war to keep from winning it, and just enough peace to keep from concluding it."

Mitterrand said the government is not working hard enough to curb the European secret army organization, a terrorist group fighting de Gaulle's plan for self-determination by the North African territory.

Funeral Home In New Facility

RURAL HOMES-FARMS ELECTRIFIED

In 1937, only 2,824 of the 170,216 farms in Louisiana had electricity, or hope of getting this essential service until electric co-ops were organized.

WHAT ELECTRIC CO-OPS MEAN TO TOWN AND COUNTRY:

- * More Business For Main Streets
- * More Industry, Payrolls—Jobs
- * Rural Recreation For Town-Country
- * Urban Living In Country Quietness
- * Greater Farm Production
- * Healthier, Happier Citizens
- * Improved Techniques
- * Total Economic Development

These are some of the many reasons why home-owned Electric Co-ops are so vital to the continued progress of Louisiana... and why they must be allowed to keep and develop the rural areas they—and only they—had the vision to serve.

Big Time Gambling Feeling Pinch Of New Federal Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—Big time day, which the bettors don't on race wires, but have been gambling, the underworld's main source of revenue, apparently is feeling the pinch of a new federal law designed to cut the hoodlums' communications lines.

The Justice Department, Senate rackets investigators, local police and other sources in big towns from coast to coast tell much the same story:

The gamblers are hurting in varying degrees, from a little to a lot. Generally they are more cautious, and some reportedly are turning to other rackets.

But no one claims organized gambling has been dealt a death blow, or anything like it, by the new statute.

The law in question makes it a federal felony—punishable by up to two years in prison and $10,000 fine—to transmit racing or other sporting information across a state line to aid professional gambling.

It is aimed mainly at the race wire which for years had operated more or less openly, and more or less inside the law, feeding horse race results and other essential information to illegal bookmaking establishments.

Interstate wire communication is essential to permit a bookie, overloaded with bets on one horse, to protect himself from possible bankruptcy by rebetting some of the money with bigger operators in other states—a system known as layoff betting.

The police say most of the bookies now must rely on makeshift arrangements to receive fast information from tracks within their own states by phone or other means, and look to newspaper sports pages for results of races not much, as one knowledgeable at tracks in other states. This off-informant put it. He said the New Orleans delays payouts until the next New York bookies never did rely much.

Brazil Group Gets Signers For Censure

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—An- gry congressmen collected 44 signatures Saturday for a motion of censure of Foreign Minister Francisco Dantas for re- newing diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

The rightist group in the Cham- ber of Deputies was only six short of the necessary 50 signatures to bring a motion to the floor, but still far short of its self-imposed goal of 78.

Leaders of the conservative organization called the Democrati- c Action Group, which claims 155 of the 326 members in the cham- ber, said they would not present the motion unless a majority of their members went along.

Prime Minister Tancredo Neves, who was reported to have favored a delay in announcing resumption of relations after a 14-year break, came to Dantas' defense.

He said restoration of relations was a realistic act which "does not imply the least concession to the ideologies and policies of the Soviet Union. Of the large nations of the world, only Brazil had no diplomatic or commercial rela- tions with the Soviet Union."

Dantas brushed aside the con- gressional criticism. He said there was nothing in the constitution re- quiring congressional approval of diplomatic relations.

Some critics said Dantas' act was ill-timed—coming just before Brazil pays traditional homage to John H. Glenn and Malcolm S. next Monday at the tombs of soldiers slain in a Communist up- rising in 1955.

Jaime Cardinal de Barros Camara, Roman Catholic arch- bishop of Rio de Janeiro, was re- ported considering boycotting the ceremony at Rio de Janeiro Cem- etery. Many Roman Catholic churchmen denounced Dantas' ac- tion.

Gov. Carlos Lacerda of Guana- bara State (Rio de Janeiro) said the ceremonies would be an "act of cynicism" and that he would not attend.

President Joao Goulart also was reported to have decided not to put in the usual appearance at the ceremonies.

U.S. To Attempt Orbit Of Chimp

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) reverse rockets which will slow the capsule speed and bring it back to earth. A parachute is to ease the 2½-ton craft into the At- lantic Ocean 1,000 miles southeast into orbit.

If the shot goes as scheduled on Wednesday, hundreds of sci- entists, engineers and technicians will begin a 24-hour-a-day crash program to achieve the admitted- ly tough task of orbiting a man before the end of the year.

A minimum of four weeks is required between the two launch- ings to mate the Project Mercury spacecraft and Atlas missile and to completely check out their compatibility.

"On this schedule, you can see everything would have to proceed on a near-perfect basis," an official said. "We'll have crews working round the clock in an effort to make it."

He noted that nearly 10 weeks have passed since an Atlas hurled an unmanned capsule into orbit for the first time. "and we were trying for a five-to-six week period between that shot and the chimpanzee launching."

The big delay in the chimp schedule occurred two weeks ago when a hydrogen peroxide gas line in the capsule sprung a leak. This necessitated removal of the spacecraft from atop the Atlas, causing a 15-day postponement.

Some sources report astronaut John H. Glenn and Malcolm S. Mercury officials as the No. 1 pilot and the backup for the or- bital shot.

Glenn served as backup pilot on the suborbital space rides of Alan B. Shepard Jr. and Virgil I. Gris- som. The Soviet Union already has orbited two cosmonauts, and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration would like the history books to show the United States achieved this in the same year.

Five chimpanzees are training here for the upcoming flight. One is Ham, whose suborbital ride last January paved the way for the Shepard and Grissom missions.

The chosen chimp will be placed in a pressure-tight metal con- tainer with an eye-level window. It will contain a life support system similar to that in the astronaut's space suit. The cap- tain also will have a support system.

The Atlas is geared to boost the spacecraft into orbit at a speed of 17,400 miles an hour. After three orbits, lasting a total of 4½ hours, a ground signal will fire

1962 LEGISLATURE SESSION

State Solons To Offer
New Electors Plan Bill

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Rep. Parry Branton said Saturday he a few weeks ago by Sen. E. W. and two colleagues will sponsor a 1962 legislative bill calling for vice chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation, who suggested it might be studied for presentation to the 1962 legislature.

Under present law, Louisiana's 10 presidential electors for any recognized parties on the ballot are offered to the voters in a package of 10.

This means voters must vote for all 10 electors under any one party label.

The plan sponsored by Branton, from Webster Parish, and Reps. John Rau of Jefferson and Well-born Jack of Caddo, would call for voters to name two electors at large, as is done now.

But the remaining eight would be elected individually in the eight congressional districts, with the voters in each district balloting only for one district elector — in addition to the two at-large state-wide.

cratic party civil rights plank.

President Kennedy carried Louisiana and its 10 elector votes, with the Democratic ticket receiving 50.4 per cent of all ballots cast. Richard Nixon 28.6 per cent and States' Rights, 21 per cent.

During the height of the legislative battle against last winter, Branton offered, and then withdrew, a proposal that would have held Louisiana's 10 presidential elector ballots.

Branton, in an Associated Press interview, reiterated the new plan has nothing to do with any presidential race, past or present.

Should it be adopted in Louisiana, he commented, "We hope to contact members of legislatures in all states seeking support for the idea."

Under the present electoral college system, Branton said, there are about seven states — New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, California, Michigan and Texas — where Republicans and Democrats just about split even most of the time. Texas would be one exception, he added.

"Therefore," he said, "both major parties tend to cater to minority voters in these states. And they have to go after that minority vote if they want to elect a president."

Branton said he and his colleagues invited all Louisiana civic groups to express their ideas on the proposal.

He listed these points in support of the plan:

It would require only a simple legislative act, not a constitutional proposal.

States' rights would be preserved, because states are given the right to select the methods by which presidential electors are named.

The popular vote in each district would be reflected more accurately.

A district elector plan would tend to equalize political pressures on the president with pressures felt by congressmen, who are elected on a district basis.

U.S. Group
Will Confer
With Frondizi

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson and other American officials will meet Sunday night with Argentine President Arturo Frondizi and Latin-American diplomats here say the conference may mean Argentina is considering a more emphatic stand on Cuba.

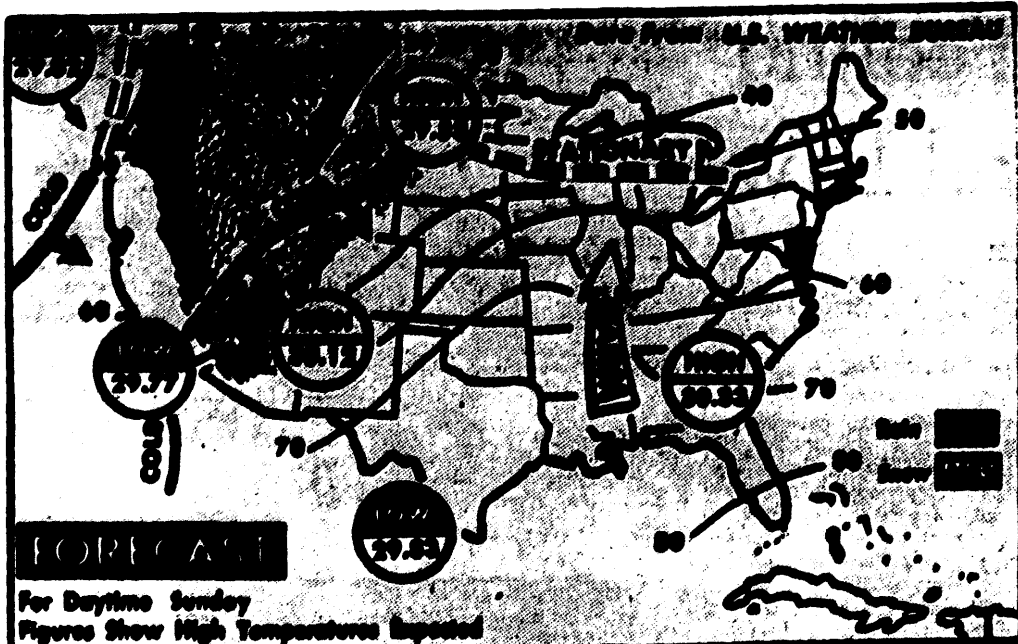

The conference was announced Saturday in Hyannis Port, Mass., where President Kennedy is spending the weekend. It will be held at Port of Spain, Trinidad, as Frondizi heads north to begin a month-long tour of Canada, Greece and the Far East.

The Hyannis Port announcement said only that Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, planned to meet with Frondizi to talk over economic projects not resolved during the recent Kennedy-Frondizi conference in New York.

It was learned here, however, that Stevenson would be accompanied by Robert Woodward, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, and Edward A. Jamison, director of the State Department's Office of Inter-American Regional Political Affairs.

Argentina has been considered hesitant about the Organization of American States taking collective action against the Communist-aligned Fidel Castro regime in Cuba on the theory that the Cuban people might consider it an act of intervention.

Some months ago, President Frondizi found himself under heavy criticism from Argentine military leaders for holding a long conference with Ernesto Guevara, former Argentine Communist now in the Castro regime in Cuba. Frondizi took to the radio and television to assure Argentines his government is on the side of the Western democracies.

SNOW AND RAIN are forecast Sunday for the Pacific northwest, the plateau and the northern plains states. The remainder of the country should be fair. Warm and warmer temperatures will be dominant from the Mississippi eastward to the Atlantic coast. (AP Wirephoto Map)

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Claude Pepper, who served in the U.S. Senate from 1936 to 1950, announced Saturday he will run for Congress from the new North Dade District.

Pepper, now 61, said he will be a candidate in the Democratic primary next May and has advised the secretary of state of his intention to qualify for the race. Pepper long has been active in state and national politics. He has practiced law in Miami for the past several years.

Cuban Refugees Picket Mexican Envoy In N.O.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A group of Cuban refugees picketed a Mexican ambassador Saturday and issued a statement accusing Fidel Castro's government of meddling in other nation's affairs in 11 incidents during the past two and a half years.

The pickets sprang up outside the hotel of Dr. Vicente Sanchez-Gavito, Mexican ambassador to the Organization of American States. He was in New Orleans on a two-day visit as a guest of the American ambassador to the OAS, former Mayor deLesseps Morrison.

In an interview Friday, Sanchez-Gavito said OAS sanctions against Cuba would at this time violate the RIO treaty. But he defended sanctions against the Dominican Republic for having "overly intervened" in Venezuelan internal affairs.

A spokesman for the 24 refugees who signed the statement, Dr. Juan Silverio, said Sanchez-Gavito is a "close personal friend" of Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa.

Tensas 4-H'ers

Livestock Show

WATERPROOF (Special) — A Tensas Parish 4-H Club member's prize lamb placed third in competition at Chicago last week at the International Livestock Show.

The lamb was owned and exhibited by Miles Hopkins of Waterproof, who along with another Tensas Parish 4-H'er, Kathleen Gladden of St. Joseph, is attending the livestock show in Chicago.

The pair won this all-expense paid trip to Chicago at the Louisiana State Fair. Ten lambs were put on the list to go to the Chicago show and two of the 10 belonged to Hopkins.

This is the third year in a row for him to make the trip, as honor as other 4-H Clubbers has ever had.

Thanksgiving day, Hopkins and Miss Gladden showed their lambs and Hopkins' lamb placed third in his class. This is the highest place a Louisiana 4-H'er has ever placed at the international competition.

Louisiana had four lambs in the top 10, however.

The lambs were to be judged again Saturday, but results of this competition were not available last night.

They will return home Wednesday.

Jet-smooth ride

Jet-smooth ride, n. 1. The cloud-9 feeling of comfort that people in Chevrolets enjoy wherever they go. 2. A supple Full Coil spring flexing at each wheel of a Chevrolet to absorb road shock. These are teamed with over 700 noise and vibration filters throughout the automobile so that the total effect is a ride of supreme quiet and smoothness. 3. The reason why so many Chevrolet-owning families leave home ever so happily. 4. A habit-forming pleasure for which no cure is known, wanted or sought.

new V8-skedaddle

new V8-skedaddle, n. 1. The result of touching an accelerator that's linked to one of Chevrolet's new V8 engines (also known as "six-skedaddle" when engine is Chevrolet's trusty 135-hp. Six). 2. The moving power of Chevrolet's 1962 V8 engines. There are five of them, ranging from a standard 170-hp. version up to an optional extra-cost 409-hp. powerhouse.

Something you won't find in any other car in Chevrolet's field.

deep-wall trunk

deep-wall trunk, n. 1. The giant warehouse built into the rear of a 1962 Chevrolet. 2. A trunk that loads at the bumper level and has a capacity of 29.7 cubic feet. It is built with an extra-deep recess in its floor so that it can easily accept odd-shaped outside objects.

slim-roof styling

comfort-high seats, n. 1. Thought by many to be the most comfortable things to happen to the bottom side of the human lap since dad's overstuffed armchair. 2. Seats that are high enough to support and relax the thighs and weight-bearing muscles of the body (better for sitting, better for seeing). By providing resilient, deep-padded support throughout the backrest and seat itself, they bring on a remarkable feeling of comfort and well-being.

front fender underair

front fender underair, n. 1. An advance that's causing people to say things like "What won't those Chevrolet engineers come up with next?" 2. Sturdy steel linings that are under the front fenders of 1962 Chevrolets to add extra protection against flying stones, mud, slush, road salt and that old bugaboo, corrosion. 3. An arresting combination of lovely, long-lived materials used in an elegant way to decorate the new Chevrolet's passenger compartment and tickle the fancy of its occupants. 3. A harmonizing blend of the functional—such as the clean-cut, neatly ordered instrument panel—with the tasteful and the fresh.

slim-roof styling

slim-roof styling, n. 1. The clean-etched lines that typify the 1962 Chevrolet and contribute so much to its look of elegance. 2. These come in three lines: The elegant new Jet-smooth Chevrolet which gives you just about everything you could hope to find in an expensive car—without the expense. The new-size Chevy II that brings you sensibility at its Sunday best via nine models, including a hardtop, sedan, a convertible and station wagons. The sporty new Corvair which retains the rear-engine traction and nimble steering that made it a rally star and adds many new touches to please people with sports-car fever and a budget to answer to. And the Corvair, which offers new refinements, new V8 power. 3. Where '62 values are way up but prices are the same—or less—on comparably equipped models. 4. A Chevrolet dealer's place of business, which includes a showroom runned by friendly and knowledgeable salesmen; a large, carefully stocked parts department; a modern service center where factory-trained mechanics ply their skill; and best-buy OK used cars. 5. # JFK Assessing Value Of Tours

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON, AP—President Kennedy and top administration aides are assessing the results of their cross-country swing aimed at direct communication with the people. They explained their programs to plain Mr. Citizen and sought his ideas.

Did they succeed and if so how much? At least partial answers are now available.

President Kennedy, who concentrated on foreign affairs while doing a bit of politicking on the side, was described by aides as highly pleased with his five-day circuit of Washington, Arizona and California.

Demonstrations Are Called Off By Race Group

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—A local NAACP official disclosed Saturday that a racial demonstration, including sit-ins and protest marches, have been called off here "until further notice."

Joseph H. Turner, president of the Memphis branch of the NAACP, declined to list specific reasons for the decision. He indicated another statement might be issued in the next few weeks.

Turner refused to discuss reports that Negro leaders were negotiating with several downtown merchants in efforts to desegregate eating places and other facilities.

But he hinted if the negotiations were "successful" the demonstrations would be ended permanently.

Turner said that for now the demonstrations that began here several months ago had been suspended indefinitely.

He said the sit-in demonstrations and so-called "freedom marches" which had become an almost weekly occurrence in Memphis came to an end about three weeks ago.

APPLICABLE TO SPACE New System Found In Communications

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—A University of Nebraska scientist described Saturday a new basic communication system for the future.

Details were disclosed to university scientists who set up a plan of royalty division under the patent issued on the system.

The new system, developed by Dr. Clyde Hyde, acting chairman of the university electrical engineering department, is called "Sideband Intermediate Frequency Communications System."

It sends out information on two signals instead of one. The receiver combines information from the two, forming a truer and purer reproduction of the original information than is presently possible, Dr. Hyde explained.

The new system essentially eliminates the Doppler effect, which is the change of frequency occurring when the sender or receiver moves at high speeds to or from the receiver.

Since this frequency shift is almost eliminated, the system would be applicable for satellites or space ships, in addition to trains, autos, airplanes and the like, Dr. Hyde said.

He said the technique will allow transmission of information on heat, light or noise rays similar to the present system of sending information on radio waves.

The 39-year-old engineer hit upon the system while attempting to solve a problem of determining absorption properties of gases.

Dr. Hyde said he already has received inquiries from two national aircraft companies involved in missile and space research.

Floodwall Report On Ouachita Set For August 1st

Preparation of a review report on the Ouachita River floodwall in Monroe is expected to be completed by the U.S. Corps of Engineers about August 1 of next year, it was announced yesterday by Fifth District Congressman Otto E. Passman.

The engineering study was directed by a resolution sponsored by Rep. Passman and adopted by the committee on public works of the House.

Col. Warren S. Everett, district U.S. engineer at Vicksburg, has given assurance that his staff will work closely with the Louisiana Department of Public Works, the Tensas Basin Levee Board, and the City of Monroe in preparing the report, Passman said.

Rep. Passman, just back from an around-the-world study of foreign aid operations, is scheduled to report on some of his observations at a meeting of the Winnsboro Lions Club at noon Tuesday.

He is chairman of the House subcommittee on foreign operations, appropriations, which handles the money bill for foreign aid.

Jury Is Told Of Letters At Murder Trial

BUTLER, Ala. (AP)—John Lewis McPhearson wrote letters to three Meridian, Miss., stores five days after his wife was fatally shot and stopped the use of charge accounts.

Bank President Albert H. Evans Jr., identified signatures on the letters as those of McPhearson, who is charged with shooting his wife and burying her body in an abandoned well.

The defense failed to introduce several checks which the witness identified as being drawn on a joint account of McPhearson and his wife.

Another witness testified he cut pine timber in the vicinity of the well where Irma Lee McPhearson was buried several months before the killing.

Hilton Roberts, of Silas, said after he cut the timber a good stand of pines remained. He said that indicated there was no need for reseedling operations which the defense claims to be the purpose of bulldozing operations in the vicinity.

McPhearson was sentenced to life in prison at his first trial, but the state Supreme Court reversed the ruling on a technicality. The second trial ended in a mistrial when the jury could not agree on a verdict.

Dominicans Blame Reds For Troubles

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Three Dominicans who flew here Saturday from New York blamed Communists and pro-Castro partisans for much of the recent trouble in the Dominican Republic.

They said they were in Lisbon, Duquella, former vice president of the Central Committee of the Dominican party, and Francisco Trujillo Reynosa, another nephew of the late dictator.

Their jet plane was delayed three hours at New York's Idlewild Airport by a false report that a bomb was aboard.

Luis Reynosa said he was assuming the post of military attaché at the Dominican legation and delegated Duquella to hold a news conference. He said Duquella was the new minister counselor at the legation.

Duquella told newsmen "Our public is undergoing the usual difficulties that follow the fall of a long and steady regime of force."

Test Ban Talks May Set Record

GENEVA (UPI) — When the United States and Britain resume nuclear test ban talks here Tuesday with the Soviets, they will be kicking off the latest session of what has become one of the longest East-West talkathons on record.

No end is yet in sight. While the West has welcomed the Soviet acceptance of its proposal that the talks be resumed, most observers feel there is little chance of making any real progress.

The talks, these observers feel, will almost certainly bog down at once in the propaganda exchanges that marred the previous three years of negotiation and prevented any worthwhile agreement from being reached.

Despite the pessimism, there has never been a hint by either side that the talks be broken off for anything more than a recess. This is because neither side wants to provide any propaganda advantages to the other.

The talks began Oct. 31, 1959, a burst of favorable publicity following a Western decision to stop nuclear testing while the conversations were going on.

No one in the West then realized the conference might still be in session more than three years later.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth promptly offered to stop tests on a year to year basis provided an inspection system agreeable to both sides was installed and that "satisfactory progress" was made towards general disarmament.

Russian Chief Delegate Semyon Tsarapkin immediately countered with a demand that Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States sign a pledge to "abandon nuclear tests for all time."

The demand was turned down by June, the U.S. which said such a pledge would not prevent either side from breaking its word and carrying out tests secretly.

Thus, within a matter of weeks the pattern of the conference had been established—the same patting the Russians to give ground term which, with subtle variations, was to continue through the next three years.

Wadsworth has been replaced as chief American negotiator by Arthur Dean but Tsarapkin was still head of the Soviet delegation when the conference went into recess last Sept. 9 and he was expected to return in that capacity on Tuesday.

Little over a week after the initial start of the conference, the Russians took the propaganda offensive with a demand that the West agree to her terms. The demand was rejected and the conference dragged on.

By December 1958 the Soviets were accusing the West of wanting foreign-staffed inspection posts to control nuclear tests so they could act as espionage "Trojan horses."

By May, 1959, with the conference half a year old, both sides were standing firm on their proposals—the West for a limited test ban with built-in guarantees that it would be observed; the Russians for a complete draft treaty in which all three nations would promise to stop tests but would not be compelled to prove that they had done so.

The stage seemed set for endless discussion of these two points.

A year later the conference stalemated and the delegates were talking of the possibility that the whole problem might be solved at the Paris summit talks between Nikita Khrushchev, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and President Eisenhower.

Collapse of the summit ruined these hopes and the Soviets returned to the attack with a blast against U.S. plans to resume underground nuclear testing.

When the talks resumed March 21 of this year, the United States and Britain pressed hard for an agreement on a controlled test ban by June.

But the Russians sat tight and refused to budge from their previous position and June came and went with no end in sight.

Despite a U.S. note to the Soviet government on June 17 asking the Russians to give ground on a number of outstanding issues, Tsarapkin continued to insist that it is the Americans who are holding things up.

Dominicans Await Plans On Coalition

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Dominicans waited Saturday for President Joaquin Balaguer to unveil his plans to bring political tranquility to his turbulent Caribbean nation.

Balaguer scheduled another meeting with the leaders of the three major opposition political factions amid mounting reports he will announce his promised new government formula—apparently a coalition.

Leaders of the opposition factions—the National Civic Union, the 14th of June Movement and the Revolutionary party — met with Balaguer Friday in the wake of mob violence and looting of Trujillo family homes. What was discussed at the meeting was not disclosed.

The opposition rebuffed a number of earlier Balaguer attempts at a coalition government as long as relatives and friends of assassinated dictator Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo remained in key positions of the government. The last of the Trujillos left last week after the Dominican air force thwarted a possible Trujillo resurgence and U.S. warships appeared off the coast.

The U.S. warships, still visible offshore for the seventh consecutive day, came under a leaflet attack by the pro-Castro revolutionary party.

"Liberty won under the silhouette of a foreign aggressor's guns is not a triumph—it is a farce," the leaflets declared.

Couple Observes Wedding Event: Is Slated Today

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Embanato, Edgewater Gardens, will be honored this afternoon with an open house reception at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Oliver Road. The reception will be from 3 to 5 p.m.

The couple today are celebrating the 50th anniversary of their marriage, which occurred at St. Matthews Catholic Church on November 26, 1911. The couple's children are hosts for the event.

Both are natives of Palermo, Sicily, and came to the United States in 1902. Children of the couple are Philip Embanato, of Los Angeles, Calif., and A. L. "Tony" Embanato, Mrs. Lena DeStafano, Mrs. Josephine Lolley, Mrs. Rose Tichen, Mrs. Angelina Bruscatto, Pete Embanato, Mrs. Madeline Zarro and Mrs. Loretta Joseph, all of Monroe.

They are not known to have a large following.

Reports circulated that the Trujillos withdrew millions of dollars from Dominican banks before taking up exile in the United States and Europe.

The anti-Trujillo radio station Voz del Tropico charged that Gen. Jose Arismendi Trujillo, a brother of the late dictator, withdrew $2 million in U.S. currency from the state-owned Bank of Reserves before flying to the United States last Monday. Other sources claimed it was $7 million.

The station contended that the Dominican peso had sunk to a fraction of its official rate because of low foreign exchange holdings. However, these were known to have been drained by the dictator in building up the Dominican armed forces during his feuds with Fidel Castro of Cuba and Venezuela. President Romulo Betancourt.

Private Group Clubs Bunnies During Hunt

HARMONY, N.C. (AP) — Barking dogs chased rabbits Saturday toward a line of 75 hunters who killed the bunnies with clubs and stones, not guns. The hunt was staged by a private group after Harmony American Legion Post 113 discontinued its annual sticks-and-stones bunny-bop following nationwide protests by humane societies.

J. C. Grant, commander of the post, said he had no comment on Saturday's hunt. It was sponsored by a group which recently organized under the name of the Union Grove Community Hunt Association and included some members of the post.

The hunters, about half of them youngsters, came back individually and the first three men brought in eight rabbits. The group planned to donate the rabbits to the post, which sponsors an annual pre-Christmas barbecue with proceeds to charity.

Former WAC Tells Of Jungle Survival

ROME, N.Y. — AP — If Michael of three survivors of an Army transport plane that crashed into a towering mountain during World War II, Margaret W. Beckler, told a reporter that she, Lt. John B. McCollom of Trenton, Mo., and Sgt. Kenneth W. Becker of Kelso, Wash., did not have to contend with sharks, crocodiles or swamps that could endanger young Rockefeller.

The plane crashed in a dense jungle May 13, 1945. The wreckage was spotted from the air three days later. Food and medical supplies were dropped until the trio was rescued.

"I am fine and enjoying it all," Mrs. Atkinson said then in a clear, firm voice over a walkie-talkie to planes overhead.

She said Saturday she did not believe Rockefeller, if alive, would be in any danger from the natives.

Mrs. Atkinson said she had thought the natives were cannibals but "they turned out to be friendly."

"One man who was leader motioned for us to come over to them," she said. "But we said, 'Come over here if you want to see us.' We offered them my compact and hard candy and all of a sudden they started smiling and shook hands and that was it."

After the crash of the Army plane, she said, she and her companions lived in a jungle valley, four miles wide and 25 miles long. Japanese troops were supposed to have been in the area, she said.

Mrs. Atkinson said rescuers would have "an awfully hard time" finding Rockefeller because of the remoteness and swamps in the coastal area.

Weather Delays Air Travelers In West Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Hundreds of travelers were stranded in West Berlin Saturday night by what was described as the worst flying weather here in more than a decade.

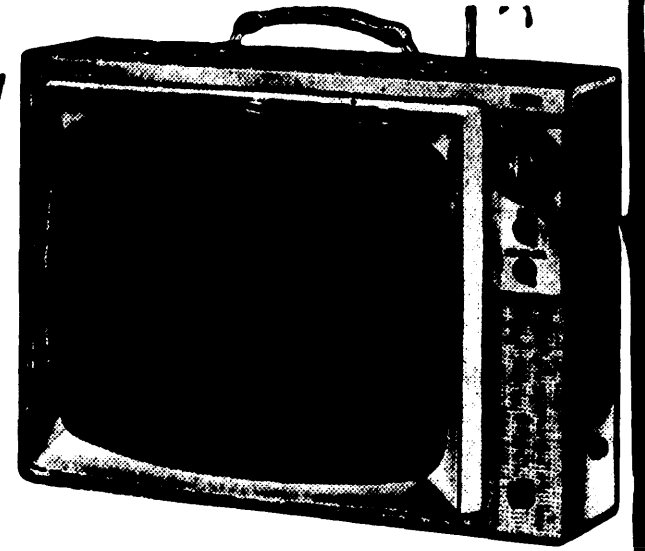

Tempelhof and Tegel, West Berlin's two civil airports, were closed most of the day by fog. Saturday was the first time since 1950 that it had no Berlin flights — 32 incoming and 23 outgoing flights were cancelled. British European Airways dispatched only 3 of its usual daily 18 outbound planes.

The only arriving planes were Pan American Airways said at Tegel Airport, in northwest Berlin, used only by Air France.

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW

Kennedy Quizzed By Soviet Editor

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Every door open to them and the President Kennedy gave an exclusive interview Saturday to the editor of the Soviet newspaper Izvestia, who said they touched on many world problems, including Berlin.

The interviewer was Alexei T. Adzhubei, son-in-law of Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Without going into details of his take some time to transmit it to questions, and the answers he got Russia because of technical from the President during the matters which affect radio transmission. Adzhubei said missions. However, he said he will also try to take a copy back to Moscow himself.

"We had a very interesting conversation—and a very important conversation for our understanding of many problems," Adzhubei said.

After his interview with the President, he returned to the White House press headquarters in a hotel, sat in on a briefing session by White House press secretary Pierre Salinger, and then took the floor to be interviewed himself.

Adzhubei, a chunky man of 37 with a shock of wavy blond hair, by chance chose the same clothing the President had for the interview. Both wore blue suits and neckties and white shirts.

The Soviet editor and his interpreter sat on a couch, the President in a cushioned rocking chair similar to that he uses at the White House.

Also there were Alexander Akalovsky, a State Department Russian-language expert, Salinger and Jack Romagna, White House shorthand reporter.

The interview was through the interpreter, with Adzhubei asking his questions in Russian.

Adzhubei appeared surprised when a reporter asked if the interview touched on the Berlin problem.

"Berlin—of course," he said, and with some heat added "It is we, the Russians, who live in Europe—not you."

When he was asked his age, Adzhubei said right away he is 37. "I'm not a young lady who would hide the age."

He said Kennedy made a "very good impression" on him and added: "You have a young president of a great country—you should be proud of that."

He said he had noticed older people in the United States "look down on young people—that's not so in Russia, the young have ev-

U. S. FOREIGN AID

Hamilton To Spend $5 Billion In Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fowler Hamilton's job is to spend $5.5 billion for foreign aid in the next year. And he says in spending it he'll stress the principle that recipient nations must do all they can to help themselves.

"No way has ever been found," he said in an interview, "to help people who do not way to help themselves."

Hamilton, 50, is a wealthy New York City lawyer who says he accepted the $22,500-a-year job because he was impressed by President Kennedy's concept of foreign aid, and because of the challenge of the job itself.

"Also, it is a great job when you think of it in terms of its real objectives: the building up of the military strength of countries we consider as our allies, particularly in the danger areas, and such help as we can give in strengthening the economy and accelerating improvement of living standards in countries that want to be independent."

Hamilton's title is administrator of the Agency for International Development, a new entity which incorporates the work of the International Cooperation Administration, the Development Loan Fund, foreign currency operations of the Export-Import Bank, and other activities.

The administrator, who reports directly to Secretary of State Dean Rusk and to Kennedy, occupies offices in the State Department.

Stories of some past boo-boos—presidential appointees, and congress allotted it 51 super grade jobs. This enables AID to hire people at better salaries than would have been possible ordinarily—$15,000 to $19,000 yearly.

Of this set-up, Hamilton says: "The 63 top management jobs, and the 120 directors and deputy directors in the field will be just like people in private industry—subject to swift ouster if they don't deliver. The career people so released would go back to the agencies from which they came, the others out, without reference to Civil Service and other seniority rules."

The foreign aid bill carries $3,877,100,000 of new money for fiscal year 1962 starting last July 1. In addition, there was more than $100 million left from last year's appropriations. Hamilton says "We are going to make mistakes, too, but even a banker has losses some times. I couldn't possibly see every project we help on, but I told Congress I'm going to be accountable, and the test will come next spring when I go back to Congress to talk about future foreign aid programs."

Aides figure Hamilton's take-home pay for his first 30 days in office comes to about $520 an hour, call him "a real tiger for work." White House officials say he has done a great job in a very brief time.

The agency has places for 121

Segregation Signs Up Again At Bus Station

RUSTON (Special)—Ruston's Trailway Bus Station has its segregated signs up again.

The signs were ordered removed by the Interstate Commerce Commission recently, but since that time have been placed back over the doors of the white and Negro waiting rooms.

The signs were ordered put back up by District Judge J. R. Dawkins and the judge's order to enforce Louisiana law was delivered by Lincoln parish sheriff's office deputies.

AVAILANCHE BLOCKS VILLAGE

GONDO, Switzerland (AP)—A giant avalanche blocked the Vaira Valley near the Italian border and completely cut off the 70 inhabitants of the village of Zwischbergen from the outside world. Workmen dug through the mass of snow Saturday while plans were made to supply the village by helicopter. No casualties were reported.

Dick Neely, manager of the Trailways Bus Dept here said he experienced no trouble either before or after the signs were replaced.

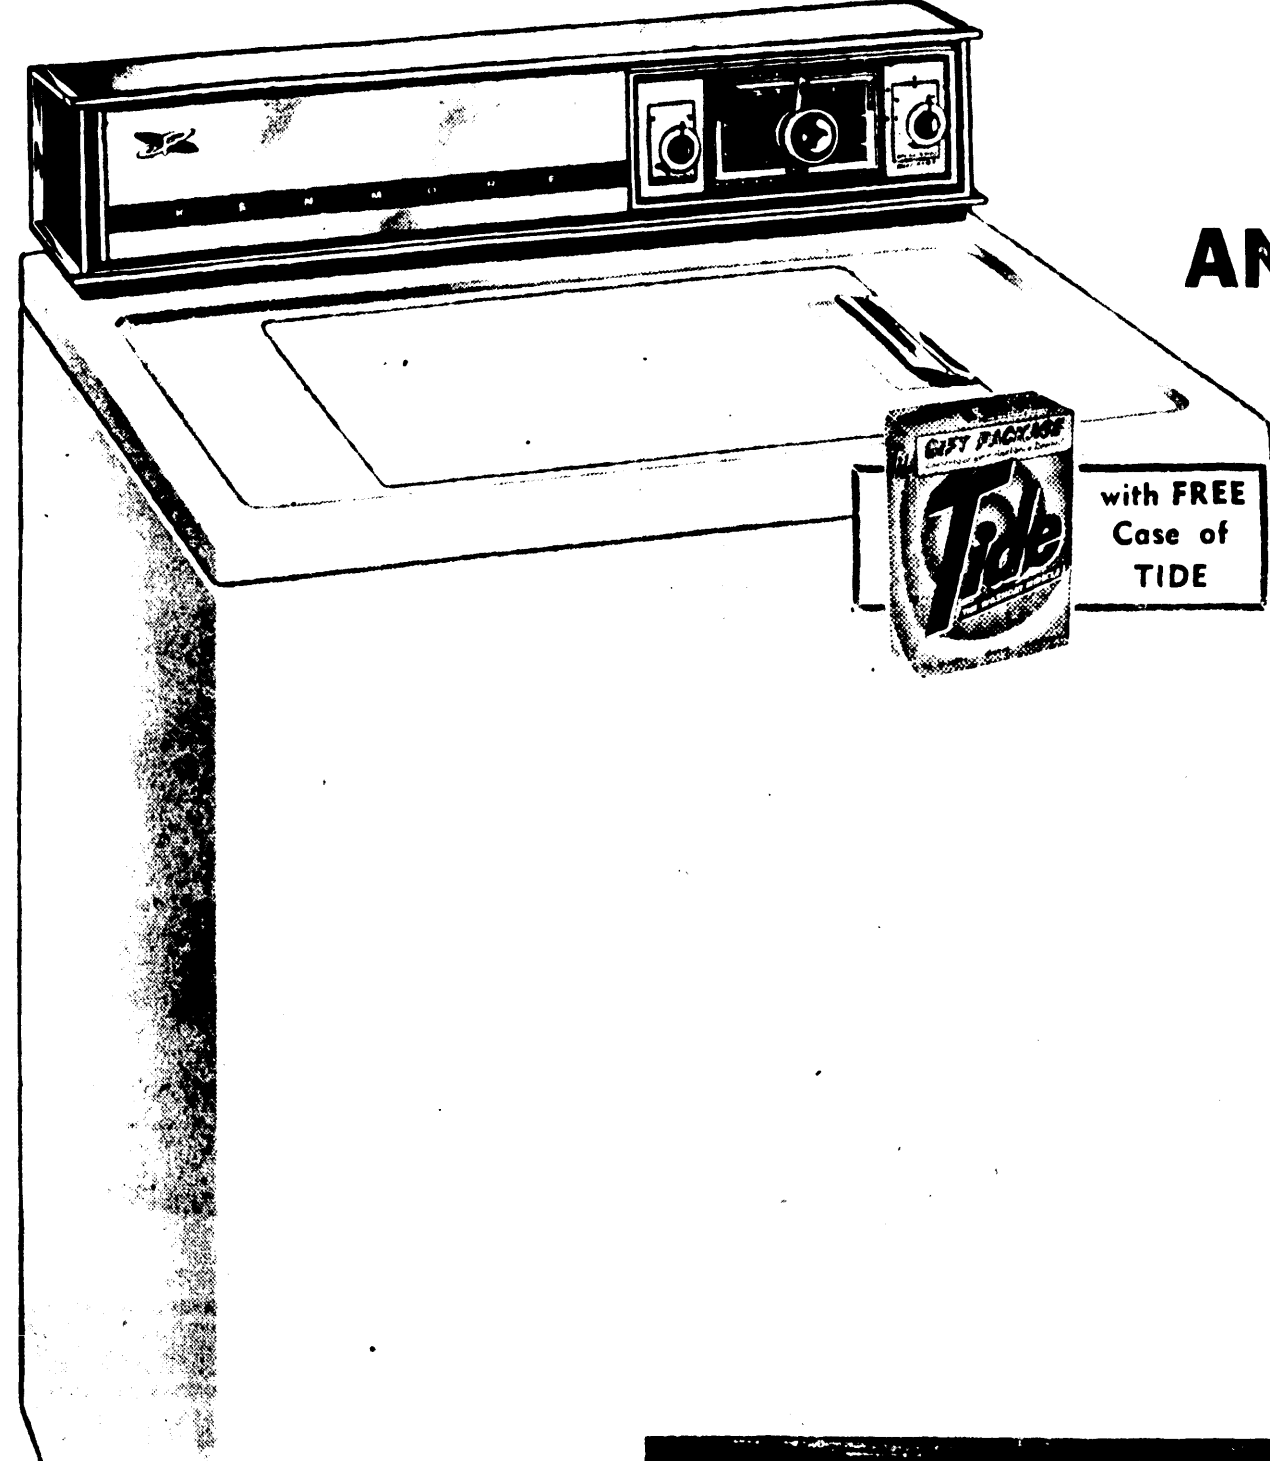

Sign over one side of the station lists it as the "white intrastate waiting room." The other is designated "Interstate and colored intrastate passengers."

State Father Retains Hopes For Lost Son

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The father of 20-year-old airman Tommy D. Smith Jr., of nearby Livingston Parish, Saturday reported his son became lost while on a hunting trip in Newfoudland's Grand Lake area.

Smith Sr., who lives on a farm near Weiss and works at a local refinery, said his son was one of five men lost last week.

The party included three airmen and two guides. Grand Lake is a large body of water about six miles wide and 45 miles long.

Their boat, a craft equipped with twin outboard engines, was found floating with stern under water in the lake. There was no trace of the party, although the Air Force has been searching for the past week on foot, in boats trip, anxious about his mother and by air.

The elder Smith said his son gery

Tommy is eldest among their week of fruitless searching four sons and two daughters. "I felt better," he said, "when the father said the family's I heard that one of those guides hopes still were high despite a had 25 years of experience."

Atomic Test For Peaceful Uses Slated

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP)—Two hundred officials and newsmen from nine countries are previewing this weekend a million-dollar hole designed to turn the wrath of the A-bomb into peaceful uses.

A tunnel and bomb chamber have been dug a quarter-mile below ground in the salt rock 34 miles from the famous Carlsbad Caverns.

The atomic explosion is set for Dec. 10 as a first experiment toward using the heat, blast and radiation from nuclear explosives for peaceful purposes.

At the quarter-mile depth, the A-bomb device is not expected to throw any radioactive fallout into the air, said officials of the Atomic Energy Commission. It will be equal in energy to 5,000 tons of TNT—about one-fourth the power of bombs dropped on Japan. AEC officials say the shock wave will not damage the Carlsbad Caverns.

Eight foreign countries sent officials or newsmen to inspect the site and equipment Sunday after a briefing Saturday night. They represent Canada, Japan, Australia, England, France, Spain, Switzerland and South Africa. The Soviet Union was invited but has not replied.

The foreign and U.S. observers will not see the bomb device itself, not yet installed in the chamber.

The device is sufficiently similar to actual A-weapons so it will not be shown, said Dr. John Kelly, director of the AEC's Division of Peaceful Nuclear Explosives.

He said the Dec. 10 test, known as Project Gnome, would help demonstrate how to design nuclear explosives specifically for peaceful applications.

Project Gnome is a first step investigating various possibilities in controlled nuclear explosions, officials said.

One is using the heat created and contained in the salt rock to draw out steam which could be used to generate electric power.

Another is the possibility of recovering radioactive isotopes, expected to be produced in abundance, which would be useful in medicine and industry.

Other objectives are gathering data on the cratering created in salt rock, and measurements of neutrons produced by fission to add to scientific knowledge.

Seismic or shock waves will be recorded at various locations for more information on what happens in underground explosions.

Gnome is part of Project Plowshare, which envisages using powerful nuclear explosives to create harbors, aid in mining operations, or produce electric power.

Solon Seeking Release From Military Ranks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Clyde Sare, 25, Oklahoma State legislator called to active duty with the Air Force Nov. 9, is now seeking his release to return to civilian life.

Sare is an airman third class assigned to the 113th Tactical Fighter Wing at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md.

As an elected official, Sare was entitled to exemption from military service, but he said he felt his legislative duties and his insurance and real estate agency could do without him, particularly since the Oklahoma Legislature will not reconvene until early 1963.

However, Sare said the position he expected to fill in the 113th Statistical Services Section has been eliminated. He decided to request his release, he said, rather than risk a transfer that would require training in another field or an extension of his tour.

Sare, a Democrat from Washington County, Okla., is chairman of the Oklahoma House Committee on Reapportionment. A bill he introduced to change the boundaries of state districts was defeated in the last session, he said, and now a petition he favors is being circulated to set up a commission to handle reapportionment.

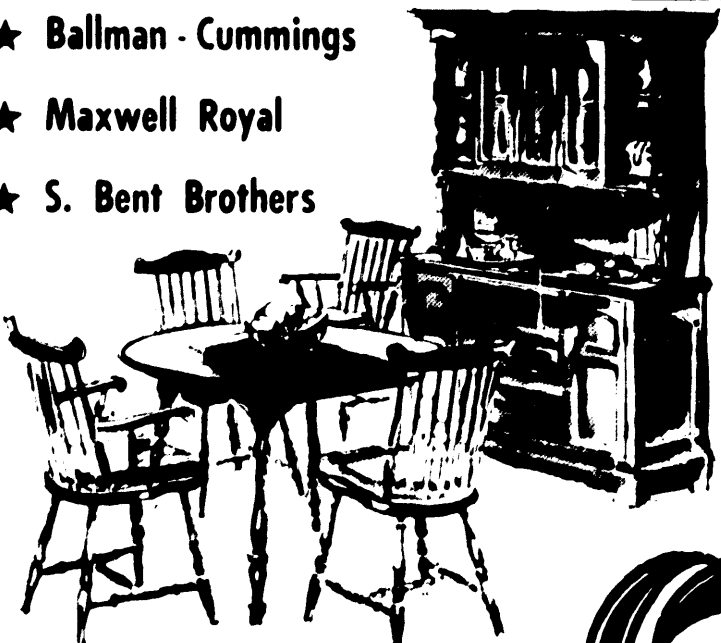

"I feel under the circumstances I would probably be of more value at home," he said.

Reds Pushing
Stalin Purge

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Communist East Europe last week plunged into a frenzied purge of all remaining traces of Stalin's memory and flung bitter epithets at the Stalinist Albanians for refusing to join them.

Only Poland managed to maintain its composure and stand aloof from the feverish rush to get in line with the new Moscow campaign to erase the memory of Stalin.

The Poles pointed out that they had traveled this route five years before and were just waiting for the others to catch up with them.
Reports of the de-Stalinization drive reaching here from other satellite countries give this picture.

Czechoslovakia: The industrious
Czechoslovakia busily set to work renaming hundreds of streets, squares and factories that had borne Stalin's name. The body of the late Stalinist president, Klement Gottwald, was ordered removed from his mausoleum.
The massive statue of Stalin that had stood in Prague since 1955 was ordered razed. Communist chief Antonin Novotny revealed that his country had already cut off all economic assistance to Albania.

Hungary: Appropriate measures to liquidate embarrassing monuments to Stalin were announced by a plenum of the Hungarian Communist party's Central Committee. The party declared a thinly veiled slap at Red China, which supports the Al-banians. The Hungarians declared this is no time for patience as far as Albania's party chief Enver Hoxha is concerned and called for tougher measures against dogmatists and sectar-ians.

East Germany: The old Stalinist, Walter Ulbricht, went through the motions of dishonoring his former mentor and patron by tearing down his image and name all over Communist East Germany.
Propaganda organs denounced Stalinist measures, which they admitted had prevailed in the East German Communist party, but defended Ulbricht's leadership of the party.

The East German Communists have not yet held a Central Committee meeting to talk over the Soviet party's 22nd congress. The delay has led some observers here to speculate about possible internal party difficulties.

Poland: The furor over Stalin-ism has caused hardly a ripple here and much mirthful comment on the problems it is causing the other Communist allies.

Polish party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka contributed to the general attack on Albania. He declared that the Albanians are all alone in their struggle with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, who he claimed is supported by all the world's Communist parties—including the Chinese.

Bulgaria: Bulgaria embarked on a large-scale de-Stalinization drive with the removal of a giant Stalin monument in the Black Sea port of Varna. In Sofia the Stalin District was renamed Lenin District as were a number of other places.

Romania: There has been no announcement from Romania of de-Stalinization measures but party leader Gheorghe Gheorgiu-Dej recently denounced the personality cult and other Stalinist evils in an article published in Moscow's Pravda.

Solon Reports
Air Guard Unit
Idle In Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep.
George Huddleston, D-Ala., reported Saturday complaints that members of an Air National Guard unit called up and sent overseas are sitting around with nothing to do. The Defense Department blamed air traffic control problems in the Paris area.
Pentagon officials said operational U.S. jet flying from several bases in the Paris area has been suspended until the problem can be solved. Discussions are under way between U.S. and French authorities, they said, but gave no indication when a solution will be reached.

An aide to Huddleston said the congressman has relayed to the Defense Department complaints from families of members of the 117th Reconnaissance Wing, an Alabama outfit now based in the Paris area. The aide said Huddleston had not received a reply from the Defense Department said a response was being prepared outlining the traffic control problem.

He said the unit has not been permitted to fly training missions and added: "The members of the 117th are just sitting around with nothing to do."

The 117th is one of several Air National Guard units called into federal service as part of the bandup of U.S. military forces in Europe.

REVERSES DECISION

TOKYO (UPI) — The Japan
Times said Friday the government is reversing a previous decision, and seek about $125 million in loans from private U.S. banks to pay for imports of surplus American farm products.

The Times said the government had dropped plans to obtain surplus-buying loans from the U.S.
Export-Import Bank because 50 per cent of any imports obtained with funds from the official account would have to be shipped in U.S. freighters.

Misrepresentation

A Cuban refugee now teaching high school Spanish at Natchez, Miss., said Fidel Castro came to power in his native land because he "represented himself as a conservative and dumped the people into accepting him when he actually was a communist."

Dr. Ignacio Galbis has been giving talks to Natchez organizations. Although he pointed out that Castro's rise was aided by the corruption of the Batista government, he said that today there's a definite shortage of food on the island. Now there's chaos in Cuba because the people were so eager for improvement that they did not look closely at what would take its place. There's a good lesson there.

'Cajun' Talk

Frances C. Roy, associate professor of electrical engineering at Louisiana Tech, will speak to the El Dorado section of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers 7:15 p.m. Dec. 8 at the El Dorado Country Club.

His subject will be the history and heritage of the "Cajun People" in Louisiana at the Ladies Night meeting.

Berlin Crisis Negotiations Held Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials foresee the possibility of negotiations between the Western powers and the Soviet Union early next year on a peaceful settlement of the Berlin crisis.

But authorities said Saturday two problems must be dealt with before such negotiations can be considered reasonably certain. One problem is to win the agreement of French President Charles de Gaulle, who is in London this weekend conferring with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The other problem is to get some indication from Soviet Premier Khrushchev that he is prepared to negotiate for a compromise settlement instead of insisting on his demand that West Berlin be made a "free city."

The talks here last week between President Kennedy and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer gave the Western powers a major start on resolving disputes and misunderstandings in their own ranks—a step that had to be taken before they could seriously consider negotiations with the Soviet Union. Adenauer is scheduled to meet with De Gaulle in Paris next Thursday.

The 85-year-old West German leader, often regarded as the personification of rigid policy positions in relations with the Soviet Union, was represented after the Washington talks by both U.S. and German diplomats as having shown considerable flexibility here on Berlin issues.

This strengthened Kennedy administration hopes that a basis for fully agreed Western negotiating policies would be worked out by the middle of next month when U.S., British, French and West German foreign ministers meet in Paris.

The decisions of those four then would be presented to a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council with the aim of winning nationwide support.

West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder, who was here for the Adenauer-Kennedy conference, was reported in dispatches from Bonn Saturday to have told parliamentary members of Adenauer's Christian Democratic party that he looks for East-West negotiations on Berlin early next year.

VILLAGE CHANGES NAME
LIMOGES, France (AP) — The Communist-dominated Village council of St. Junien this week changed the name of Boulevard Stalin to Boulevard Marcel Cachin in honor of a veteran French Red leader.

Reverse Quitter

Here's a bit of wisdom someone saw written down somewhere and called up to tell us about:

• "Generally speaking, a communist is a person who has given up hope of ever becoming a capitalist."

Press Progress

UPI Reporter, for telegraph editors, contains this notation in its latest issue:

"From J. Edward Murray's presidential address at the national convention of APME in Dallas last week:

"I got to the presidency of the Associated Press Managing Editors after 10 solid years with United Press. That's progress. In fact it's a little like having a communist in the White House."

About Music

FERRIDAY (Special) — Something for music lovers. We're advised that Myrl Recording Company, Inc., of Ferriday plans to release two more records Monday.

To be released are "Everybody's Twisting" by Daaron Lee, and one was designed to start a new dance step with the teenagers "Shimmy Shimmy Walk" by the Megatons. Little Shirley Jean Wiley, of Pineville, has a new release "Long Tall Sally" and "Evening Shadows" which according to reports show signs of out-selling her first release, "I'll Get Even With You" and "Alone Am I."

Wayne Farmer, of Monroe, has a new release, "You Hurt Me So" and "Oh, Yeah! Baby," reported to be doing well in the Southern states.

Area Events

Two important area events are scheduled this week. Wednesday mayors and municipal officials of towns under 5,000 population in the Fifth District will meet at Rayville to discuss their role in the Louisiana Municipal Assn.

It'll be the forerunner of a series of conferences all over the state. It would be possible to get some real grassroots ideas at these meetings.

Thursday and Friday, at Louisiana Tech in Ruston, an Aerospace Education Symposium will be held, with leading panelists from various segments of space advancement participating.

A real headline that should provide some revealing facts.

Bashful Author

We had in our possession this week a locally-written article poking fun at this column we would have loved to pass on to you . . . but unfortunately the author is bashful.

LSU Mauls Wave 62-0; Play Buffs In Orange

Harris Leads Tig Romp Scoring 26

By ED TUNSTALL.
BATON ROUGE (AP) — Louisiana State, the nation's fourth-ranked football team, slaughtered Tulane 62-0 in their 1961 football season finale Saturday and accepted a bid to play in the Orange Bowl at Miami on New Year's Day.

The Bayou Bengals accepted the bid after winning their ninth straight game after opening the season with a 16-3 loss to Rice.

Acceptance of the bid was a mere formality since reports in the last several weeks had LSU all tied up for the trip to Miami. LSU declined invitation from the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans.

The Colorado Buffaloes probably will furnish the opposition for the Tigers, who will be making their second trip to the Orange Bowl. The Bayou boys whipped Texas A&M 19-14 in the 1944 renewal.

Colorado, unbeaten in Big Eight Conference play with a 4-0 mark, went against Iowa State Saturday.

Halfback Wendell Harris, making his final bid for All-America honors, led the Tiger assault with 26 points.

Harris, a 195-pound senior from Baton Rouge ran for two touchdowns and took a 23-yard pass from quarterback Jimmy Field for another. He booted six conversions and ran for a two-point conversion after the Tigers' final score.

LSU's point total equaled its all-time production, scored against Tulane in 1958.

Tulane was no match for LSU's three-team attack and the statistics more than showed the fury of the Bengal offensive. LSU rolled 335 yards on the ground and added another 103 through the air for a 438-yard total. The LSU defensive units held Tulane to 27 yards rushing and 48 passing.

The victory was the ninth of the season against one loss for LSU. The Tigers probably will move up in the national rankings since third-ranked Minnesota lost to Wisconsin.

The game was less than two minutes old when LSU scored its first touchdown. The Tigers recovered a Tulane fumble and three plays later Harris swept seven yards around left end for the touchdown.

The other LSU touchdowns came at a furious pace:

Halfback Jerry Stovall went 12 yards after the second period and Harris converted.

Quarterback Lynn Amadee slipped through right tackle in the second period from the 4 and Harris' conversion gave LSU a 21-0 halftime lead.

In the third period halfback Ray Wilkins, slammed through left tackle from the 3, and Harris again converted.

Halfback Tommy Neck scored on a one-yard plunge nine plays after the Tigers recovered a Tulane fumble in the third period and Harris again converted.

Then came two touchdowns less than two minutes apart. Fullback Earl Gros bulled over from the one and after another Tulane fumble, Field passed to Harris.

Amadee went 44 yards for the next tally and Harris closed the scoring with a one-yard smash.

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — After using a 62-0 romp over Tulane as a showpiece of their power, the football Tigers of LSU Saturday voted unanimously to accept an Orange Bowl bid and play Colorado.

But when the team and coaching staff went down the line for the Miami, Fla., classic on New Year's Day they did not know Colorado would be the opposing school.

Colorado walloped Iowa State 34-0 at about the same time. Meanwhile, Missouri beat Kansas 10-7, eliminating Kansas from the Big Eight title race and leaving Colorado with the conference championship.

Orange Bowl policy gives the Big Eight winner the host berth in the Jan. 1 game. A committee chooses an opponent, this year LSU. The Bayou Bengals could not accept the bid until they finished their regular schedule, which ended with Tulane.

LSU Athletic Director Jim Corbett issued the formal statement of acceptance. Bowl officials B.B. Benjamin, Bill Lantaff and John Ring offered the formal invitation immediately after the game.

The Bayou Bengals made only one previous Orange Bowl appearance, in 1944. They defeated Texas A&M 19-14. They have a 9-1 record this year, losing to Rice in the season opener.

Coach Paul Dietzel commented:

GO TEAM quarterback Lynn Amadee (11), carries (51). Amadee's run kept the Tiger's second touchdown drive alive. LSU crushed their arch rival 62-0 and unanimously accepted an Orange Bowl bid in the same day. (AP Wirephoto)

Jay Hebert Heads Ruston Golf Clinic

RUSTON (Special) — Golfing star Jay Hebert is slated to lead a public-invited golf clinic at the Ruston Country Club here next Saturday afternoon.

Hebert, who demonstrated golfing techniques then played a nine-hole round with members of the Louisiana Tech golf team, according to Joe Allet, Director of Athletics at Tech.

The clinic, sponsored by the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics at Louisiana Tech in cooperation with the local country club, gets underway at 1:30 p.m.

Hebert, a Lafayette, La. pro, is a member of the U.S. Ryder Cup team and one of the top ten money winners on the pro tour.

The clinic is open free of charge to the public and high school golf teams in the area are given a special invitation to attend.

Gamecocks Top Hapless Vandy, 23-7

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — South Carolina used Vanderbilt miscues Saturday to start the Gamecocks toward a 23-7 intercollegiate football victory.

Two Commodore bobbles set up a pair of South Carolina touchdowns, one in the second period and one in the fourth, after which Sammy Anderson returned a Commodore punt 64 yards for a third touchdown.

Kicking specialist Dean Findley booted a 37-yard field goal in the second quarter to give the Gamecocks a 10-0 lead at the half.

Vanderbilt scored in the final seconds on a pass from reserve quarterback John Cleveland to end George Smith for the final two yards.

Vanderbilt had a scoring opportunity in the first two minutes of play, but bobbled it when South Carolina held for downs on the 3.

Bob Sullivan's punt was fumbled by Bill Gambrell on the Carolina 13, where Terrell Dye recovered for Vanderbilt. With fourth and on to go on the Gamecock 4, fullback Billy Crawford was held for no gain.

The Commodores never threatened again until the closing minutes when they scored. The touchdown was set up on a pass interception by Paul Thurmond who carried 21 yards to the Carolina 20.

Bahama Wins Split Decision

Bahama, weighing the heaviest of his career at 161 pounds, went into the ring on an underdog at 11-4 against the 160-pound tall man from South America.

Will Probably Meet Alabama Razorbacks Down Tech; Accept Sugar Bowl Bid

By WICK TEMPLE.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A tie with Texas for the South-Ninth ranked Arkansas beat Tech 28-0 Saturday and immediately accepted an invitation to league history to win or tie for the title three years in a row.

Alabama's appearance in the Sugar Bowl is all but assured. (Crimson Tide players have voted to accept a Sugar Bowl bid if one is extended and Sugar officials have said they'll go all out to get the Crimson Tide, No. 1 team in the nation.)

The Razorbacks were tense for the ultra-important Tech game and their passing attack suffered, but a brutal Arkansas defense allowed Tech inside Arkansas territory only twice.

Arkansas quarterback George McKinney scored from the one after a 64-yard first quarter drive. He passed 7 yards to end Jim John to cap a 62-yard push in the second period.

In the fourth quarter, Arkansas drove 36 yards and halfback Lance Alworth spurred the last 12. With 3:43 left, the Hogs went 51 yards and quarterback Billy Moore went in from the six.

At that point, Marshall J. Davis, a member of the Sugar Bowl committee got up from his press box seat and said, "You've made the sale. You can quit now."

By beating Tech, Arkansas recorded its third straight 8-2 season under Coach Frank Broyles. The Hogs won the Southwest Conference championship outright last year and tied for it with Texas and Texas Christian in 1959.

Will Probably Meet Alabama Razorbacks Down Tech; Accept Sugar Bowl Bid

By WICK TEMPLE.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A tie with Texas for the South-Ninth ranked Arkansas beat Tech 28-0 Saturday and immediately accepted an invitation to league history to win or tie for the title three years in a row.

Alabama's appearance in the Sugar Bowl is all but assured. (Crimson Tide players have voted to accept a Sugar Bowl bid if one is extended and Sugar officials have said they'll go all out to get the Crimson Tide, No. 1 team in the nation.)

The Razorbacks were tense for the ultra-important Tech game and their passing attack suffered, but a brutal Arkansas defense allowed Tech inside Arkansas territory only twice.

Arkansas quarterback George McKinney scored from the one after a 64-yard first quarter drive. He passed 7 yards to end Jim John to cap a 62-yard push in the second period.

In the fourth quarter, Arkansas drove 36 yards and halfback Lance Alworth spurred the last 12. With 3:43 left, the Hogs went 51 yards and quarterback Billy Moore went in from the six.

At that point, Marshall J. Davis, a member of the Sugar Bowl committee got up from his press box seat and said, "You've made the sale. You can quit now."

By beating Tech, Arkansas recorded its third straight 8-2 season under Coach Frank Broyles. The Hogs won the Southwest Conference championship outright last year and tied for it with Texas and Texas Christian in 1959.

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Sophomore Bill Harris streaked 86 and 59 yards on two of his three touchdown runs Saturday as Colorado overwhelmed Iowa State, 34-0, to capture its first Big Eight Conference football championship and virtually clinch a bid to the Orange Bowl.

Only the formality of receiving and accepting the invitation to the Miami game appeared to remain, although Colorado doesn't complete its regular schedule until next Saturday, against the Air Force.

Kansas, which also had been under Orange Bowl consideration as Big Eight representative, fell to Missouri Saturday, 10-7, at Lawrence, Kan.

A scout from Louisiana State University watched the game in anticipation of an LSU-Colorado match in the Orange Bowl.

Iowa State came back 50 yards for a first down on the Colorado four. But four smashes into the line, three by tailback Dave Hoppmann, the nation's offense leader, and one bytailback Dave Hoover got only two yards.

Harris, a 210-pound halfback from Hackensack, N.J., put the game on ice for Colorado in the second period when he returned a punt 86 yards untouched for a touchdown.

Harris added two more touchdowns in the third period, on a 59-yard run around end and a two-yard smash. His last run climaxed a 63-yard Colorado drive.

Volunteers In 26-12 Nudge Of Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Tennessee found the answer to Kentucky coach Blanton Collier's domination of the old rivalry Saturday in sophomore Mallon Faircloth who threw for two touchdowns and ran 40 yards for another in their 26-12 triumph over the Wildcats.

Operating behind a sophomore-sprinkled Tennessee line, Faircloth was a throwback to the great Volunteer tailbacks of the past as he threw touchdown passes to end Mike Stratton and Pat Augustine, and swept around right end for 40 yards and the touchdown that proved to be the winning score early in the second half.

It was the first time Tennessee had beaten Kentucky since 1956, and only the second time they had defeated a Collier-coached team in nine tries. Even then the Vols had to beat down a final period aerial attack by Kentucky that scored two touchdowns.

One was a 73-yard play from quarterback John Ruppulla to end Tom Hutchinson that had Kentucky threatening again before fullback Jack Nichols intercepted at the Tennessee eight-yard line, and ran it back 48 yards.

Tennessee's first half touchdowns were scored on perfectly executed forward passes, but both resulted from a driving Volunteer defense that rendered Kentucky's attack almost helpless until the final period.

Tennessee almost scored on its first series, but was stopped on the Kentucky 29 and a field goal attempt by George Shuford hit the crossbar.

Kentucky was back in the hole, however, when Faircloth returned the subsequent punt 12 yards to the Kentucky 30, and fullback Bunny Orr burst up the middle to the Kentucky 11 on a trap play.

On third down, Stratton streaked laterally across the one-yard line, took Faircloth's pass and stepped into the end zone for the touchdown.

Glenn Glass spelled Faircloth in the second period and capped a 55-yard drive, on which he threw for 11 yards, by bumping a pass to end Jerry Woolam, who ran for 11 yards and scored.

COP BIG TEN TITLE

Buckeyes Jolt Michigan; Complete Perfect Season

By JERRY GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Ohio State, supplied with raw power by Bob Ferguson and electrifying running by Paul Warfield, completed a perfect Big Ten season Saturday by jolting arch-rival Michigan 50-20.

The second-ranked Buckeyes, who now have won or tied for 12 straight games, scored four Western conference titles, finished touchdowns as a crowd of 80,444 with only an opening game tie and a regional television audience watched his awesome display. The 214-pound bulldozer relied on his crunching strength to ram through the heavy Wolverine line for 160 yards in 30 carries. Ferguson scored the first two Buckeye touchdowns by rumbling 19 yards and battering one yard. Then, after Michigan scored to win a single game during the season finishing 0-9 for the year, State finished with a 7-2 record. Spartan senior Gary Ballman and sophomore Sherman Lewis each hit for two Michigan State scores as the Spartans outmanned the fighting Illinois squad.

Senior Illinois quarterback Dave McGinn rolled around his right end for the Illinois score in the third period after sophomore signal caller Ron Fearn directed a 74-yard payoff march. State scored on its first drive. Ballman slashing in from the three. Art Brandstatter missed on the conversion attempt and State led, 6-0.

After the ball changed hands twice, Lewis flashed off tackle for 54 yards and the second Spartan score late in the second period. State faked a kick and quarterback Dick Proebstle passed to Lewis for two points to make it 14-0.

Less than two minutes later, quarterback Pete Smith passed to Lewis for a 57-yard scoring play. This time Brandstatter converted to give State a 21-0 lead at the half.

Illinois dominated the third period, using up time in the scoring drive. As the fourth period opened, Ballman ripped 56 yards up the middle for his second score of the game.

A tired Illinois squad couldn't move and State took over. Smith passing to Lonnie Sanders for the final Spartan score.

Badgers Gain Upset Over Minnesota, 23-21

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Passer Ron Miller led Wisconsin to a 23-21 upset over third-ranked Minnesota Saturday to explode the Gophers' dreams of a second consecutive Big Ten football title.

Thus Ohio State won the conference championship outright with a 6-1 record on the strength of the Buckeyes' crushing defeat of Michigan. Defending national champion Minnesota, favored by more than a touchdown against the Badgers, finished second with a 4-1 mark.

Spartans Crush Winless Illinois

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Michigan State crushed Illinois, 34-7, Saturday using only part of its power. It was the first time in history that the Illini failed to win a single game during the season finishing 0-9 for the year. State finished with a 7-2 record.

Gay Brewer Goofs But Holds Lead

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — Gay Brewer, bothered by a cold, put, fired a two-over 74 Saturday, but kept a one-stroke lead at the end of the third round of the $15,000 Mobile Sertoma - PGA Open.

The bad round, his first over 70, gave the Crystal River, Fla., veteran a third round total of 209. "I was hitting the ball good," he moaned, "but my putting was awful."

Brewer carded only three birdies while suffering through two three-putts in his five-putts. In his first two rounds, the 29-year-old Brewer shot a 69 and a 66, the lowest round yet this year.

The 74 cost Brewer three strokes of his lead over consistent Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., whose 71 Saturday gave him a 210 total.

Behind Pott at 212 were Arnold Palmer, Dan Sikes of Jacksonville, Fla., and George Knudson of Winnipeg, Canada.

Joe Moreoso of Woodmere, N.Y., and Pat Schwab of Wilmington, Del., were two strokes back with 214's Moreoso and Ewing Pomeroy of nearby Point of View, Ga., carded the best rounds of the day—four under 68. However, Pomeroy's 68 still left him nine strokes off Brewer's pace with 218.

Razorbacks Will Play In Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Arkansas, co-champion of the Southwest Conference, accepted a Sugar Bowl bid Saturday, and topped-ranked Alabama loomed as its probable New Year's Day opponent.

The Razorbacks (8-2) announced acceptance of the invitation after defeating Texas Tech 28-0 to tie Texas for the conference title. It marked the third straight year that Arkansas has won or shared the SWC championship.

Alabama, undefeated and untied in nine games, can't announce any bowl decision until after its final game Saturday at Texas Tech. Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant said Saturday the Razorbacks prefer to play in the Sugar Bowl.

Alabama, topped in this Arkansas Associated Press poll, had been considered a strong possibility for the Rose Bowl.

Arkansas lost only to Mississippi, 17-0, and to Texas, 35-7. The Razorbacks have won 28 and lost 12 in regular season games in their 12th year in the Southwest Conference.

Coach Frank Broyles' four-year Arkansas defeated Georgia Tech 14-7 in the Gator Bowl after a 1959 season and lost to Duke 7-6 in last January's Cotton Bowl.

Sooners Conquer Nebraska With 21-14 Victory

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Oklahoma's late-blooming Sooner stormed from behind in the second half Saturday to conquer Nebraska 21-14 in a battle of Big Eight Conference also-rans.

Trailing 14-0 at intermission, the resurgent Sooners scored their first touchdown in the first 89 seconds of the second half. They added another 10 minutes later and ground out 98 yards in 24 plays in the final drive to victory.

It ran the Oklahoma win string to four games and gives the Sooners a chance for a break-even season in next week's finale against Oklahoma State.

For Nebraska, closing out what could be its last five seasons under Coach Bill Jennings, the loss set the year's record at three wins, six losses and one tie, a shade worse than the 4-6 mark posted the last two years. Jennings' contract expires in January. Whether he will remain has not been told.

Rutgers Ends Perfect Year On 32-19 Note

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Rutgers stormed to the first undefeated season in its football history Saturday by breaking loose for four touchdowns in the final quarter and defeating Columbia 32-19.

Rutgers finished with a 9-0 record, Columbia, which finished in a tie for the Ivy League title, ended with 6-3.

For most of the third period it looked as though Rutgers had blown its chance for a perfect season. Columbia, down 7-0 at the half, struck suddenly for four quick touchdowns and went ahead 19-7.

But on the first play of the fourth period, Bill Speranza passed 10 yards to Lee Curcio to tie the game at 19-19.

Three plays later, fullback Pierce Fraumeni intercepted at the Columbia pass and returned it 20 yards to the Lion 28. Rutgers tied the score 19-19, later as Speranza drove over from the 10-yard line. Bill Flower's conversion attempt sailed wide. There was more than 10 minutes left.

Rutgers started its winning drive on its own 40 after a Columbia punt. The Scarlet Knights marched 60 yards in 10 plays, with fullback Steve Simms, a standout performer all afternoon, crashing over from the 3 with 3:32 to go.

UCLA Takes USC Gets Bowl Berth

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tailback Bobby Smith fought his way six yards to the winning touchdown as UCLA defeated Southern California 10-7 Saturday and captured the Rose Bowl assignment for the Big Five Conference.

The winning play came in the third quarter in the rain-drenched Memorial Coliseum in a bitterly fought game. It sent Coach Bill Barnes' Bruins to the Pasadena New Year's Day classic for the fifth time.

A crowd of 57,580—some 20,000 less than actually bought tickets—braved rain and cold for the game.

Breaks and fumbles figured in the outcome. Trojan quarterback Pete Beathard attempted a short pass to Willie Brown in the third quarter but Bruin end Joe Vena leaped and deflected the ball into the hands of teammate Joe Bauwens, who galloped 15 yards to the Trojan 32.

It took seven running plays before Smith got the ball over. The result gave UCLA a 3-1-0 record in the conference and Southern Cal a 2-1-1 league mark. The Bruins finished with a 7-2 overall record.

UCLA scored first in the second period on a 31-yard field goal by Smith after a 61-yard run by sophomore Mike Halfner set it up.

The lead quickly shifted, however, when Southern Cal's Beathard returned a quick kick 52 yards for a touchdown and Carl Skviera converted. This was late in the second period and was only the second time the Trojans had been in UCLA territory.

The Trojans crossed the mid-field stripe only six times and never got past the Bruin 33 except on Beathard's touchdown run. But they put up a great defensive struggle and stopped Bruin thrusts on their 13, 11 and 3-yard lines.

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (UPI) — Wake Forest's Mickey Walker kicked a 22-yard field goal with 25 seconds left Saturday to give the Deacons a 17-14 victory over North Carolina.

The outcome of the Atlantic Coast Conference thriller was in doubt right up until the Walker kick. It was his fifth field goal of the season and tied a conference record of five field goals held by John Hanigan of Maryland.

On Dit'

Thanksgiving weekend is always a busy one, what with members of the college crowd home. Rumors of wedding plans for Christmas, mid-semester, or next summer fill the air at this season. A gay group that passed through town Wednesday night and is due back today was made up of eight students from Baylor university, including DAVID DOTY, of Forest, Mississippi, nephew of the MARCUS MAPPS.

David, a frequent visitor here, and his friends stopped off for dinner with the Mapps, whose daughter, MALISE, arrived the same evening from Mississippi State Women's university. For the occasion, the Mapp home was festive with seasonal decorations. A brown cloth covered the dining table, where the center piece was a large pumpkin filled with apples, nuts, and autumn leaves, placed on a wooden board. Yellow candles completed the arrangement.

This morning the same group, with about sixteen guests, are expected for brunch at the Mapps. By noon all will have scattered to various colleges.

Last Saturday night the Lotus club was scene of a gala reception when the FRED MILLSAPS, DAN SARTORS, and GENE WORTHENS were hosts. In the club entrance, where the receiving line formed, decorations included giant bronze and yellow chrysanthemums in brass bowls and brass candlesticks holding brown candles. For the occasion, Judy was wearing a black silk after-five dress, while Jane chose gold crepe. Elaine's dress was a black silk sheath.

On her fifth birthday, JANICE ANN SIMPSON invited six little girl friends to visit the television station. They returned home for games before luncheon, birthday cake and ice cream.

A skating party honored SARAH MADISON on her sixth birthday. Forty children attended the party, with CHELE RIVERS and WES LOFLIN winning the Music prize. HINT that for trying the hardest. Favors were paddle balls for the boys and jacks for the girls.

Today's poem is "Nobility" by Alice Cary. True worth is in being, not seeming — In doing, each day that goes by, Some little good — not in dreaming Of great things to do by and by. For whatever men say in their blindness, And spite of the fancies of youth, There's nothing so kingly as kindness, And nothing so royal as truth. We get back our mete as we measure — cannot do wrong and feel right. Nor can we give pain and gain pleasure. For justice avenges each slight. The air for the wing of the sparrow, The bush for the robin and wren, But always the path that is narrow — And straight, for the children of men. We cannot make bargains for blisses, Nor catch them like fishes in nets. And sometimes the thing our life misses Helps more than the thing which it gets. And slight is the sting of his trouble Whose winnings are less than his worth. For he who is honest is noble, Whatever his fortunes or birth.

Among the Revelers who went all-out on flapper-type clothes were BARBARA EASTERLING, who wore a blue chemise trimmed with black fringe. JEAN HAMILTON, in red with white fringe. TEEDEE DIXON in red with red fringe, complete with headband and Black yarn fringe trimmed ADELE RANSOM's tight black satin. BITZA BROWN wore red shoes and headband with a red satin dress trimmed in black fringe. and LEILA EWING's headband was a towering feather, matching her purple satin chemise.

This coming Friday, December 1, the Temple Sisterhood will sponsor one of their famous cake sales. Home made cake, sandwiches, and coffee, will be served by the ladies in the empty store building at 135 DeSiard all day Friday. TRUDI ARON, chairman of the event, states that cake will be available by the slice or to take home. Wednesday night, BETSY TAYLOR entertained with a Backwards Party at home. Arriving guests, all of whom wore backwards clothes, were greeted by a large sign saying "Good-Bye". Dip items and lay on paper to

Thanksgiving Day Ceremony Unites Judith Godwin, Neal Keith McGuire

Solemnized Thanksgiving Day, November 28 in the First Methodist church at Bastrop was the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Judith Godwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Godwin, and Neal Keith McGuire, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Z. McGuire, all of Bastrop.

The Rev. Luther Booth performed the double ring ceremony at 10 a.m. following a concert of spiritual music by Mrs. J. B. Spier, organist, and Jim Life of Baton Rouge, who sang "I Love Thee," "All For You," "God Sent Me You," and at conclusion of the ceremony, "O Perfect Love."

A massive arrangement of white stock and white chrysanthemums with a background of Jade foliage was the focal point at the altar where the chancel rail was entwined with foliage and clusters of white stock. Candles were arranged in the background with two tree type candelabra entwined with foliage and stock. The bride and groom stood on a pillow of white satin for the exchange of vows. Pews were marked with white satin and greenery.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white brocade, fashioned with Empire bodice, modified Sabrina neckline and three-quarter sleeves. The skirt, designed on sheath lines in front, billowed in bouffant fashion in back and extended into a chapel train. The neckline and sleeves were embroidered with rhinestones and pearls which were repeated on her tiny half hat which dipped over the forehead and held her veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and stock.

Miss Diane Caldwell of Bastrop, served as maid of honor and Mrs. Ray Dempsey, Atlanta, Georgia, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sally Spier, Bastrop and Mrs. Robert Guida, of Marlon. They wore identical slim skirted frocks of amethyst Italian velveteen, styled with cowl necklines and above elbow length sleeves, accented by corded waistlines and flat bows at center back of violet peau de soie. Their small pillbox hats were also of violet peau de soie, fashioned with tiny pleats and corded flat bows at the back. They carried semi-crescent bouquets of chrysanthemums in tinted shades of lavender to magenta.

Don L. McGuire attended his brother as best man. Groomsman were Norman Rogers, Freddie Fezatte, and Jim McCormack. Johnnie Godwin, brother of the bride, and C. E. Snyder, served as ushers and candlelighters.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Godwin wore a tan and were reflected in the decorations and arrangements throughout the reception room. A massive cornucopia overflowing with chrysanthemums in shades from amethyst to white, interspersed with clusters of grapes in complimentary shades was the central decor for the refreshment table. Mrs. Frank Pratt presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Ralph Newman, aunt of the bride, poured coffee.

The circular bride's table, overlaid with a white fluted cloth held the tiered wedding cake, encircled with white and purple pompons, grapes and English ivy. A sugar corsage topped the confection embossed in pastel lavender and white. Mrs. Wyatt Perdue and Mrs. Cy Melton, aunts of the bride, served the cake.

Floating hostesses were Mrs. Ben Berry, Mrs. Otis Bridges, Mrs. Hugh Kellin, Mrs. E. M. Caldwell, Mrs. E. E. Worley and Mrs. Mike Bell, with tea girls including Miss Pat Sanders, Miss Kay Basham, Shreveport; Mrs. Freddie Fezatte, Mrs. Jimmy

Chief Tusquahoma DAR HDC Presidents Receive Awards For Achievement

Mrs. James Barnes Shackelford, State Regent of Louisiana Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, of Jones, and Mrs. Edward D. Schneider, Vice-President General of the N. S. DAR, of Lake Providence, were honor guests of the Chief Tusquahoma Chapter, DAR meeting on Saturday, November 18, in the home of Mrs. H. Clifton Mize, 118 Copely Street.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Herman McGuire, Mrs. O. N. Reynolds, Mrs. Gordie L. Roy, Mrs. J. C. Steele, Jr., and Mrs. James L. McGuire.

After an address of welcome given by Mrs. H. M. McGuire, regent, she introduced the distinguished guests, who were presented with corsages of white roses. Mrs. J. B. Landreaux, librarian of the L. S. DAR and program chairman for the chapter, four new members were welcomed into the chapter, three of whom were present, Mrs. E. Harrell, Mrs. Travis Brown, Mrs. Fred Brownlee, and Mrs. Harry Winters of Columbia who was unable to attend.

A brief business session was held, with five minutes devoted to National Defense by the chairman, Mrs. Louis I. Craig. Reports were heard from several committee chairmen.

Highlight of the meeting was a talk by Mrs. Shackelford, who gave a resume of the State DAR work. She called attention to two special projects, the Doris Pike White gymnasium at Kate Duncan Smith School; and the improvement of the Louisiana Room at the Administration Building, Washington, D. C. She told of attending the National Board Meeting, and described different phases of the duties of that body of which was the approval of those applications recommended by the registrar general.

She related her experience of receiving National honors conferred on Louisiana at the Continental Congress, which compared favorably with other states; and she assured Chief Tusquahoma Chapter that they definitely had a large part in this achievement.

After adjournment of the meeting, guests and members were invited to the dining room for an informal tea, given by the hostesses.

The hall leading to the dining room was decorated with pink roses and box, held in a beautiful French figurine compote, and reflected in a gold leaf mirror.

The massive round table in the dining room was covered with a cutwork cloth, and held the antique silver coffee and tea service, with Mrs. Mize presiding. The five-branch silver candelabra at opposite end of the table was interwoven with Alba Plenas, and held glowing white tapers. On each end of the marble-top sideboard, were identical four-branch crystal candelabra, and a tier table in the bay window held a three-branch candelabra, flanked by standards of pot plants with greenery.

At the entrance on the porch a design of variegated eunymous, barberry, and violet hydrangea blooms, in an old-fashioned pottery tub, centered the antique table. On a card table, inside the entrance, was a design created in a rock crystal vase, using chrysanthemums in colors to blend with the antique lamp along side it. A tall vase on the console of pier mirror, held a mixed bouquet of tube-roses, pink and red tea roses, multi-color chrysanthemums, hydrangea blooms, variegated privet, and box.

A tall Oriental teakwood pedestal against the opposite side of the room, held a design of pitto-sporium, box, and aspidistra, created in a beautiful French urn, with candelabra on either side. In the music room, on a drop-leaf table, an arrangement of chrysanthemums in shades of bronze and yellow, was in perfect harmony with the large amber candelabra on the rosewood melodeon, which also held a tall silver vase of roses in mixed colors. Mrs. Jack Willis, a member, rendered music on the melodeon while the guests were being received.

On a low round table in the family room, was noted a silver vase holding rosebuds in shades of pink. In the bedrooms, mass arrangements of roses in shades to harmonize with the furnishings, were used.

The hostesses assisted with the serving and extending of courtesies. Members present were, Miss Katherine Averett, Mrs. J. Metris Bell, Sr., Mrs. Roy C.

Almond Tip

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Blanching of almonds is by no means a must, the California Foods Research Institute reports.

Many people prefer the unblanched food, on the theory that the tender skin gives flavor. The color contrast in serving a bowl of salted blanched and unblanched almonds also is attractive.

POPULARITY CHART NEW YORK (AP) — Maximal an Schell has a sure guide in Germany to the ups and downs of his film popularity.

"When I appear in something they don't like, they refer to me as a Swiss," he reports. "And when it is something they do like, they call me a German."

The actor, who was born in Switzerland but spends much time in West Germany, visited here after completing his role in Judgment of Nuremberg.

Portraying the defense attorney for war criminals was "an act of courage" for Schell. A number of people, he explains, criticized him when he played the same role in the original television version of the drama.

"Because of that criticism, I was a little hesitant," says Schell. "But I think an actor must stand up for a part he believes in, despite such criticism."

Plant Care When watering house plants, use warm water rather than cold. The cold water shocks some plants to the extent that the roots are damaged and growth is retarded.

Busy Woman Needs Scent

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Newfeatures Writer

Men need soft, feminine women if they would live happily through these restless times, says French perfumer Robert Ricci. Ricci, vice-president of the association of Paris designers Chambre Syndicate de la Couture Parisienne, says that is why all the current fashions are designed for a feminine look.

"Paris anticipates these cycles and designers are geared to create for our times. Men need their morale bolstered and to feel their own strength, so women must emphasize their femininity," he explains.

He concedes that the little helpless woman is a thing of the past, our times make it impossible.

"But a working woman and busy housewife may still maintain a feminine appearance. In France though many women now work for a living, they still concentrate on making men aware of their feminine allure. The wife must forget household and child problems and relax when her man is at home."

American women are closer to this ideal than ever before, he observes. "Sixteen years ago there was a vast difference between French and American women. The French woman's artful ways and mode of dress were designed to capture a man's imagination. American women just took it for granted, but that is all changed," he says.

Ricci is considered one of the best "noses" in the perfume business, but in the past evolving a perfume was a ticklish business because of the differences in women's preferences around the globe.

"Tastes are more universal today, and it is easier to create a scent that all will enjoy," he says.

"The mood of the times, must be captured if it is to be a success, and it is 'easy with 25 or more components comprising a new perfume'."

He is guided by man's preferences too, when he conceals his scents. Men resent strong scents, he says. They like one that gives a woman an aura, but is not overpowering.

European women wear more perfume than American women, he says, because they enjoy being

Miss Kavanaugh Becomes Bride Of Donald Tippit

Miss Patricia Anne Kavanaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman K. Kavanaugh of Ruston, became the bride of Donald Ray Tippit, son of Mrs. Aileen Tippit, Los Angeles, Calif., and Louis Tippit, Malden, Missouri, in a double ring ceremony performed Sunday, November 19 at the First Presbyterian church in Ruston.

Mr. J. W. Lipscomb officiated at the 3 p.m. nuptials, in a setting of Boston ferns surmounted on white antique pedestals, interspersed with smaller pedestals holding urns of white gladioli, large chrysanthemums and poinsettias with calla lily foliage. Lighted tapers in candle trees, garlanded with magnolia leaves completed the scene.

A program of nuptial music was presented by the organist, John Enia, who accompanied Miss Patricia Wells as she sang "I Love Thee," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of pure silk peau de soie richly appliqued in handrun rosepoint reemboirdered Alencon lace. The empire bodice with scooped neckline and brief sleeves was embellished with the lace, continuing in extravagant appliques on the skirt. Period panniers gathered at the sides and swept into a full cathedral train, also adorned with the lace motifs encrusted with pearls and sequins. Small pearl bows studded the long train and her veil of ivory tulle fell from a crown of pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white stephanotis and lily of the valley, centered with a white orchid, atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Jerry Mike Hood Sr., sister of the bride, served as matron on honor. She wore a short gown of American Beauty satin, styled with scoop neckline and elbow length sleeves. The full skirt was accentuated by a flat bow at center front. She wore a matching pillbox hat with circular veil and matching satin shoes. For adornment she wore a single strand pearl necklace and tiny pearl button earrings, and carried a single American Beauty rose.

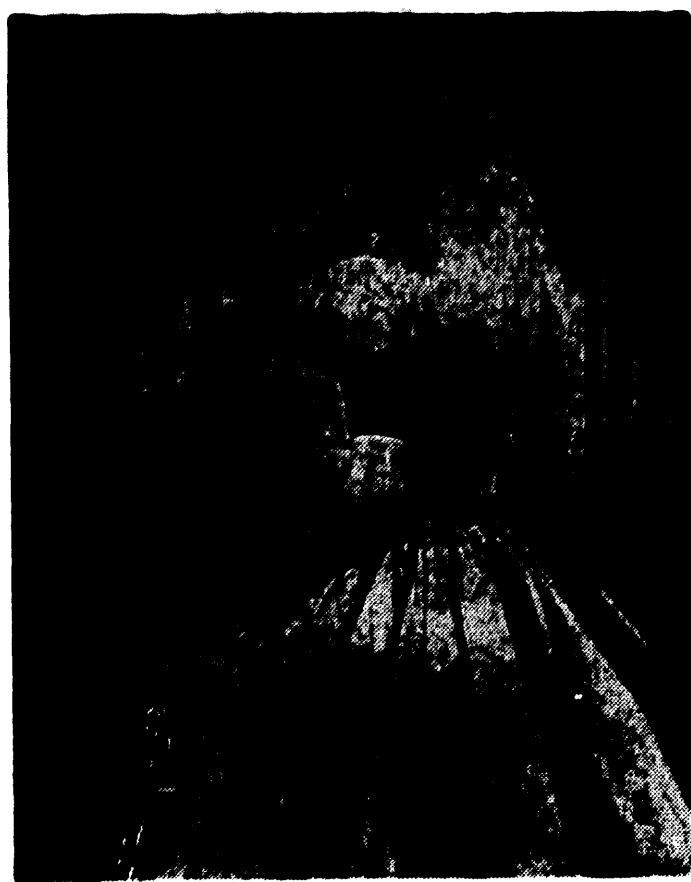

Dressed identically to the honor attendant were the bridesmaids, Miss Mary Kay Howard, cousin of the bride and Miss Elizabeth Antonette Riser.

Wayne Parker served as best man for Mr. Tippit and groomsmen were Jerry Mike Hood Sr. and Andy Carroll Malone. Ushers were Jerald Joe Hinton and Robert Spurgeon Smith.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kavanaugh wore a sheath of blue chiffon over peau de soie, with scoop neckline, elbow length sleeves and matching lace overskirt. Completing her costume were a small hat of blue flowers, matching shoes and bag. Her corsage was of white phalaenopsis orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Westminster Student Center. The bride's table was covered with an imported cutwork linen cloth with skirt of white organdy ruffles and was centrally adorned by an antique silver epergure holding white tapers and American Beauty roses. Maidenhair fern and tiny rosebuds garlanded the table, which held the wedding cake at one end with the crystal punch bowl opposite. The bride's book was placed on a round table, covered with a floor length white organdy cloth. Silver candelabra holding white tapers graced the mantel, above which the mirror was edged with garlands of magnolia leaves.

For travel when the couple left on a short wedding trip the bride was wearing a rose wool suit with matching velvet hat, black accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. They will reside in Ruston where both are seniors at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute. Mrs. Tippit is a member of Kappa Delta sorority and reigned as 1960 Miss Louisiana Tech and the Sugar Bowl Queen.

Table Settings Displayed At Welcome Garden Club

"Table Settings for Gracious Living," was the program theme carried out in table displays for the November meeting of the Welcome Garden Club held Monday afternoon in the Louis Locke Room of Ouachita Parish Library.

During the business session conducted by Mrs. V. S. Garnett, a discussion was held on various projects and the Flower Show School. A letter was read from the Litter Bug committee and Mrs. W. R. Laing reported on the Christmas dolls being dressed by members. Plans were also discussed for decorating convalescent homes in Monroe for Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Luther Branch and Mrs. A. R. Robertson were chosen to make arrangements to be entered at the Rose Festival at Hodges Gardens in April. Mrs. W. E. Kramer, program chairman, introduced Mrs. R. L. Martin of Farmville, who gave a talk on tuberculosis and its new spread among younger children. She asked the club's cooperation in supporting the drive to help fight the disease.

A dinner table for the afternoon display was arranged by Mrs. Howard Carroll, Mrs. K. R. Young, Mrs. Jerry Robinson and Mrs. Luther Branch. Covered with a satin damask cloth in soft pink, its central decor was an arrangement of Debutante carnations, and bells of Ireland with silver candelabra holding pink candles. Completing the table setting was China of Wedgwood blue and white. Mrs. Garnett made comments on the table which was judged a blue ribbon winner.

Mrs. Oscar Harrel and Mrs. Charles Chisholm set a breakfast table in autumn tones, using place mats in orange with China in orange tones and a floral arrangement of Fashion roses and yellow Burford holly berries. Comments on the table which was judged a blue ribbon winner.

Yule Season Almost Here

By MILDRED SWIFT

Twenty-eight days until Christmas! I'm sure you're busy with the million and one little (and big) jobs you have to do before that joyous occasion.

CHRISTMAS IDEAS

The new saran icicles in the stores are first proof and can be carried over from year to year. They're easier to handle and will "stay put."

If you'll shellac your fruits for your Della Robbia wreaths they will hold up much longer.

Hardware cloth is your best base for greens, fruits, nuts or whatever you plan to use. This is purchased at the seed and feed stores, or hardware. Cut this in shapes with wire cutters. To make a cone, cut a piece of this cloth (it's wire though, not cloth) at a 45 degree angle. Roll into a cone. Fill this with yew, overlapping the twigs to hide the stems. Spray any color or use green with tiny Christmas balls. Dye pampas grass with rit to use for arrangements. Fill a hurricane globe with apples, cranberries and ivy leaves. Gilded, or silvered, mother-in-law tongue is pretty in your Christmas arrangements.

FRESH GREENS

Let the children take evergreen pieces about six inches long and stick the ends in a large potato, completely covering the vegetable. The potato keeps the greens fresh and the effect is lovely. Place in one of your prettiest goblets.

Candelabras can be used as an arrangement. Christmas corsages fastened to the arm makes a pretty picture.

One of your compotes with a candle fastened in the center and greens around this is pretty for a coffee table.

If you want a simple wreath for your door, buy a styrofoam one. They're not expensive and can be used year after year. Fill this with greens. If you use florist picks tied to each twig with fine wire, they will go in easier. Sometimes the ends of the twigs can be sharpened and thrust through the foam. This wreath may also be used over the mantle or in the center of your dining table with a large candle in the center. Of course, it can be sprayed fall or gold.

One of the prettiest ideas I've seen was used in an entrance hall. Just as you entered the hall from there was an evergreen with a large candle in the center. Of course, it can be sprayed fall or gold.

House List Price Only Part Of Cost

By EDWARD COWAN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What does it cost to buy a house? The price that's listed?

No. The price plus interest on the mortgage? Closer.

Price plus interest plus closing costs? That's more like it.

How much are closing costs? What are they?

The amount varies. Approximately $300 appears to be a typical sum. But it may be lower or higher, depending on money market conditions and other factors.

A good rule to remember is this: Check carefully into closing costs before signing to buy. They may exceed your budget, forcing you to forfeit your deposit or to obtain costly secondary financing.

CLOSING COSTS. Closing costs, paid by the buyer, are expenses of getting a loan. The search and insurance, and transfer of ownership. These are general categories. Often they have many sub-categories, each with a price tag. Depending on local practice and state law, the sub-categories have different names.

Most commonly they are, or are similar to, the following:

Title search or examination. A title company digs into municipal or county records and other sources to see if the seller has free and clear title to the house. It may find, for example, that the city has slapped a lien on the property for non-payment of property or water taxes. If the lien has not been satisfied when you become owner then paying it is your headache. Title search fees vary. They may run as high as $100.

Title insurance. Protection against future challenges to your ownership. Ask if the insurance protects you, the owner, as well as the lender. Insurance, say the companies who sell it, is desirable because title search cannot guard against all possibilities. For example, missing heirs may turn up, or a wife of the former owner nobody knew about who claims dower rights.

APPRAISAL. Appraisal fee and credit report. The lender invariably insists on an independent assessment of the house's value and the buyer's ability to pay the proposed mortgage. On VA and FHA loans the appraisal fee is $20 or $25. Conventional loan appraisal may run up to $100.

Origination fee. Charged by the lender to cover the cost of making the loan. These charges usually run about 1 per cent of the loan. They may be the lender's way of raising his return on the loan through a disguised discount.

FHA and VA prohibit the buyer's paying discounts but permit origination fees up to 1 per cent.

Placement fee. Paid to a broker or other person who secures loan money for the buyer.

Prepayment of real estate or other taxes. Strictly speaking this is not a closing cost since the taxes would have to be paid anyway. But on top of everything else this payment can be especially burdensome. Moreover the buyer loses the interest the money could earn until the taxes are due.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

This week's Tailor Trix Winner is Mrs. E. H. Leffler, Charlotte, N.C., with this suggestion.

"Dear Eunice, "Because I have twin girls, I have double expense of keeping them attractively clothed without the chance of handing down outgrown clothing from one to the other. Therefore, I devised several ideas of my own for using outgrown clothing."

"I combine blouses that have become too short with outgrown slips or petticoats. Cut a slip off at the place which will make it the proper length when combined with a blouse. Sew the two together and the result is a blouse-slip combination which eliminates the problem of a short blouse always coming out of the skirt band."

Don't Prune Too Early

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

This is not the time of the year to prune. Let it soak for five to ten minutes. Do not scrub. Agitation and excessive movement of woody stems while they are wet causes shrinkage. After soaking, examine the elbows and perspiration area such as under arms for cleanliness. Rub gently if there are any stains or spots.

Squeeze out washing water, and rinse in lukewarm water, and do not wring. Put it into shape on your pattern. Your sweater will have a perfect finish if you press it with your steam iron.

Our home management specialist, Mrs. Celia Hissong, gives us the newest information on bleaching wool garments. She advises using sodium perborate, never chlorine bleach on woollens. A chlorine bleach will weaken fiber strength and cause loss of color.

Only the oxygen type bleach can be used on wool garments. It will not damage the color of any fast color fabric or impair the fiber strength. Dry soil perborate dissolved in water releases oxygen gradually and permits soft bleaching. Woollens bleached with oxygen type bleach maintain cool appearance and the wearable life of garments is increased.

Beautiful Materials Used In Displays

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR
The Bud and Blossom Garden Club of West Monroe, of which Mrs. H. R. Coon is president, displayed Thanksgiving arrangements last week for the TV and Garden Center show. Each arrangement used materials from her own yard and garden.

Mrs. E. R. Goodson used the variegated euonymus for her line placement of aspidistra leaves. Two of these she rolled and placed in the focal area for interest. Nandina berries, bright red in color, were used throughout as a filler. The container for this design is a low, green bowl. This is a very long-lasting arrangement that could be fixed to last the whole holiday season and placed on the den coffee table since it is made in a black ceramic container. She used the golden yellow chrysanthemums as a filler and massed them at the focal area at the base of the design. The golden yellow in the euonymus leaf blended perfectly with the mum. This is a lovely arrangement to be used for a bright spot in the house most any place where a small arrangement is needed.

Mrs. Harold Coon designed a low horizontal lazy-S arrangement using the old fashioned lacy and foliage from being mono-cedar for her line material. To strengthen this line she used a piate design for the living room console or on the hall table.

Mrs. J. R. Spurlock designed the perfect Thanksgiving buffet, fruit and flowers. She created a modified Hogarth design, massed by placing the variegated euonymus for her tallest line placement. Next, she grouped a bronze shaded mum. The fruits followed, pears, lemons, and grapes, which cascaded in a cluster from the focal area. Other fruits could be seen within the design, showing abundance which typifies Thanksgiving. For each depth in the design she placed a cluster of acuba japonica leaves to the back of the container which by the way was a small foil pie plate with a needle point holder secured in it. The over-all design was placed on a natural finished wooden lazy-S susan. Very lovely indeed.

TAN POTTERY
Mrs. Don Williams used a natural tan pottery cornucopia for her container for the horizontal Hogarth line which followed naturally the lines of the Cornucopia. Coral berry was used as the line material. This is a lovely shrub to have in the yard. The little berries clustered up the stem or and stay on the stem long after the leaves have fallen off. They furnish food for the birds in your garden. Wine shaded mums were used within the overall line. A cluster of deep purple grapes hung from the focal area. As a filler throughout she used a cerise colored celosia. This would be a lovely center piece for the Thanksgiving table.

Mrs. Charles Rugg also used a Cornucopia. This one was a lovely light green ceramic. She fashioned a horizontal design using the clipped pine as her line material. Some of the small pine cones were left on. For the main interest she clustered yellow-brown mums in the central area. These were accented on all sides by the placement of orange-red berries. A light tan woven straw mat was placed under this design to give it better balance. This arrangement would of course be very appropriate for a Thanksgiving table.

For horticulture several very interesting plants were brought for display. The umbrella plant, the rice paper plant and the misnamed globe thistle were shown. These were on our show a couple weeks back. It is very interesting to note the many comments we've had about these plants. Since our last showing of the globe thistle we have found out that the real name for this plant (which is an annual) is Leonotis nepalensis, and is commonly called Lion's ear or lion's tail. Other plants shown this week were the love apple, the pussy willow, which should be cut now and peeled back, the squash pepper pod, grown mostly for ornamental use, and the pitosporum seed pods which are a bright orange-red when they burst open. The bloom of the large leafed ivy was shown. It is a very rare blossom which is attractive for arrangements.

Indians Hit Jackpot At Palm Springs

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—"Lo! The poor Indian" has become a standing joke in these parts because there aren't any poor Indians here—they're all worth at least $333,000 each.

At least that goes for approximately 100 members of the Agua Caliente tribe which is enjoying unprecedented prosperity because of an act of Congress two years ago.

Congress authorized the Bureau of Indian Affairs to distribute 23,412 acres of tribal land, valued at $12,132,000 to individual members of the Agua Caliente tribe under a so-called equalization or share-the-tribal-wealth plan. In this distribution, the poorest Indian got first pick but they're all sure winners in the lottery because of the zooming real estate values in this winter resort.

The tribal land previously was administered by the Bureau of Indian Affairs and lay idle, mainly because of lease restrictions. At one time, leases were limited to five years. The Indians themselves had little or no capital and investors were reluctant to put any money on the line for development because of the short-term lease rules.

LONG LEASES

Now leases of as long as 70 years have been signed and land developers are whipping out their check books to pour millions of dollars into Indian-owned lands.

All contracts are subject to approval of the courts and most of the rich Indians, many of them minors, have conservators or guardians who watch over their funds.

There have been few signs of any startling changes in the way of life for the Indians so far.

"No one is going around lighting cigars with $100 bills," said Cliff Brown, Chamber of Commerce official. "Some of these people have been living comfortable lives, some are energetic, some are not, some are well-educated, some are not... like almost any other group. Some of them live here and work as ranch hands. A number of them live in the city—in Los Angeles."

CHILD GETS $334,794

involving cash took place between the city of Palm Springs and 30 Indians who owned the property which the municipal airport was built. The city had leased the land but a bond issue for $2,970,000 was approved by the voters for purchase.

A 6-year-old girl, Marlene Rice, got the largest allotment of the airport money under the equalization program. Marlene, who lives on a ranch at the nearby Morongo Indian Reservation, received $334,794. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rice, took the windfall in stride. They have nothing to say about use of the money. It is under control of Culver Nichols, Palm Springs real estate man, who is the girl's court-appointed guardian.

A CLOSE-UP view of the spillway structure shows the hugeness of this Department of Public Works project, which will play the key role in the creation of D'Arbonne Lake. A dam will be built across Bayou D'Arbonne to flood about 16,000 acres in the lake area. Estimated cost of the lake project itself is $21½-million. ## D'Arbonne Lake Taking Shape Haven In The Hills

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

Cradled in a canyon in the heart of tall hill country, a haven is being created by man. It's like a flashback to America's frontier days when the settlers set out to make life better by conquering a wilderness.

Because life should be better in northeast Louisiana when D'Arbonne Bayou Lake is completed at a cost of several million dollars.

IMPRESSION

Then you'll get the impression that the outdoor trend in recreation-minded America began with D'Arbonne Lake in mind — where people can play in a lake fed by pure hill streams and breathe fresh pine air in a countryside that must have been painted by an artist who wanted to outdo the rainbow.

If you've ever seen the beauty of Lake Ouachita in the mountains of upstate Arkansas, then you should have a mental picture of what D'Arbonne Lake will be like.

Under construction by the Louisiana Department of Public Works, the D'Arbonne is looked upon as the coming boon to the Monroe area, a section heavily populated by outdoor-minded people.

"It'll be the greatest thing that's ever happened to our area," says Armand Rabun, a Farmerville attorney who serves as chairman of the D'Arbonne Lake Commission.

"The lake has so many possibilities," he explains in a salesman-like manner that gives evidence to the success of the project.

COVERAGE AREA

Blessed by D'Arbonne Bayou that flows out of the Union hills to the Ouachita River, the lake area will cover some 16,000 acres, or 15 miles in length with a shoreline of 100 miles.

Which means that there is plenty of room for camps, motels and restaurants — a natural drawing card for people seeking pleasure in the outdoors.

While the hilly terrain adds a finishing, surface touch to the lake's appearance, water, of course, is the key to this undertaking — unpolluted, clear water good enough to drink.

Bayou D'Arbonne will be the chief contributing source. The excellent aspect of this factor is that Bayou D'Arbonne, Middle Fork Bayou and Bayou Corne, all fed by pure springs bubbling from the hillsides.

A dam, built across Bayou D'Arbonne, and a spillway structure will provide a means of holding the water in the lake while controlling the level too.

WELL UNDERWAY

"We're about 75 per cent complete with the spillway structure now," explains Public Works engineer A. P. Andrews at his West Monroe office.

Under construction by the Robie Sims Division of Fairchild Construction Co., the spillway structure — 800 feet long, 20 feet high and costing in the neighborhood of a million dollars — will control the water level of the lake.

structed across Bayou D'Arbonne at the same location.

While work has been underway on the spillway structure since about March of 1959, a contract for the dam has not been let. Bids are being studied in Baton Rouge now.

And the fact that the lake project has been carried over from three different administrations is an indication of the importance of D'Arbonne Lake.

D'Arbonne received first official attention by Roy Sessions, who was public works director under Gov. Robert F. Kennon. The Union Parish Development Corporation, composed of businessmen and civic leaders, was formed to promote the idea.

This group was later succeeded by the Farmerville Industrial Development Corporation, again composed of private citizens wanting to perform a public service.

LED TO BILLS

These events led to the introduction of a bill in the 1956 legislature appropriating $1-million to start the project, accompanied by a companion bill creating the D'Arbonne Lake Commission.

Co-authored by Rep. T. T. Fields and Sen. B. R. Patton, both of Union, Rep. I. D. Napier, Lincoln, and Rep. Lawrence Gibbs, Ouachita, the legislation was signed into law by the late Gov. Earl K. Long.

Clever legislative maneuvers by concerned lawmakers earmarked $2½ million in the Department of Public Works, enabling the administration of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis to continue work under Director Claude Kirkpatrick.

Inclement weather broke on backwater in the lake area last winter, delaying the work, but today chairman Rabun predicts, "The lake definitely will be completed by January 1, 1963."

Rabun says the lake body will be 15 miles long, but not including Little Bayou D'Arbonne, which connects with Bayou D'Arbonne. Include Little D'Arbonne and Rabun says it'll be 25 miles long.

And engineers estimate the lake will be an average of eight feet deep — three miles wide at its widest point with an average width of a mile and a half.

CARVED FROM CANYON

Eighty per cent in Union and 20 per cent in Lincoln, D'Arbonne is being carved from a canyon, if a canyon can exist in north Louisiana, flanked by hills that are surprisingly high.

Zigzagging through rows of hills, D'Arbonne will be nestled in healthy surroundings of tall timber. At some points along the 150 miles of shoreline, hills begin at what will be the very bank of the lake with bluffs overlooking the water.

While the Letourneau Tree Crusher Co. is clearing several thousand acres of trees in the Lake area, timber will be left around the shoreline for fishing. The Louisiana Wildlife & Fisheries Commission is expected to conduct a stocking program, even though the lake should get a natural start with fisheries through the waters of Bayou D'Arbonne.

One 900-acre tract is being cleared for a recreation area — for swimming, boating and skiing.

WATERFOWL HABITAT

Rabun says other areas of the lake should provide excellent habitat for waterfowl, but this aspect of the development will be under the supervision of the state wildlife department.

"I can foresee a lake that will offer everything — camp sites for families, fishing, water sports, swimming," Rabun believes. "It'll be the biggest thing that ever happened to Union Parish and a definite boon to the Monroe area."

Although work is over a year away from completion, speculation in real estate has begun.

"A lot of people have bought campsites already," Rabun said, "but there will be plenty of land available at reasonable prices."

Lakeside lots are plentiful. Excluding the asset of the lake itself, a reason for the desirability of the area is its wildlife. Bird hunting in Union is excellent while the parish's deer population is increasing rapidly.

While the lake proper will cost the taxpayers of Louisiana about $21½-million, Rabun believes the entire project, including the construction of roads to the water's edge, will run in the neighborhood of $24-million.

Letourneau Road, D'Arbonne, via the reputed largest man-made lake project in the south, certainly is the largest ever constructed by the Department of Public Works.

ROADS IMPORTANT

But Rabun lists the construction of roads as a terribly important item. There are many access points to the lake now, but a hard-surface road will be needed to completely encircle it.

With road construction underway, one strip of hard-surfaced highway bypassed for a new road is being left for a landing strip. Here people can drive to the lake and launch their boats from the abandoned concrete highway.

In addition, 21 public parks will ring the lake at accessible points, not to mention picnic areas and public areas to launch boats.

"We've had no trouble at all getting spots for parks," Rabun said. "Some property owners want parks on their land for real estate development purposes."

He says one group of businessmen already has begun plans for a swanky motel on the lake's edge.

Can't you just see what this lake project will mean to the entire Monroe area," Rabun said.

POINT WELL TAKEN

Rabun's point is well taken, in view of the distances that Monroe people drive to neighboring lakes for week-end excursions. Lake Providence, Lake Bruin and Lake St. John are probably the three most popular lakes of our area. They're over 70 miles away.

D'Arbonne shouldn't distract these spots. If anything, the creation of a big new lake in the immediate area will only serve to encourage people to get outdoors, especially since D'Arbonne is only 25 miles from Monroe.

Remember, in addition, America's time and fish each year, not to mention countless numbers who spend their leisure moments in camp, getting away from the telephone.

While heavy emphasis has been placed on recreation, an important aspect of the lake project that can't be overlooked is its potential as a water reservoir.

Surveys show that the water table in America is declining, that water conservation is badly needed. Northeast Louisiana, with all its water potential, hasn't felt a pinch in this field yet.

MAY BE NEEDED

But there may be a need in this area in the future for a big body of non-polluted water. D'Arbonne can help fill such a need, since its floodgate structure can hold water to great levels.

And a good point in the engineering system of the project is that Bayou D'Arbonne will not be affected, although a dam across the running stream will be constructed.

Engineers say Bayou D'Arbonne, while providing water for the lake, will continue to flow to the Ouachita River as it does today, at the same time providing a water source for a 16,000-acre reservoir.

Such are the marvels of modern-day engineering.

But engineering alone is not bringing the D'Arbonne project to its end. Citizens, local officials, state officials and legislators—all working toward one end, that being the creation of D'Arbonne Lake — have helped make it a success.

HARD WORKING

No group has worked any harder than the D'Arbonne Lake Commission itself, serving without pay in a key role. Dozens of meetings have kept the commission busy, but one of its biggest obstacles was getting property owners in the lake area to grant the right-of-way approvals.

All but one or two property owners have signed. Law suits will be filed against any property owner who chooses not to sign.

The commission, headed by Rabun, is largely responsible for this remarkable accomplishment.

Composed of five members, the commission includes, besides Rabun, Rennie Terral, a Farmerville contractor, Alvin Green, a Bernice auto dealer, Bill Smith, a Dubach pharmacist, and Lamont Phillips, a Ruston jeweler.

There's was the job to help take a piedream and turn it into a reality.

Although built by the hand of man, D'Arbonne Bayou Lake, once completed, will be as real as the tall pines that surround it, as productive as the bayou that feeds it, as important as the effort that built it.

D'Arbonne, in an area of great outdoor potential, is every bit realistic. It's like industry without smokestacks.

BAYOU D'ARBONNE, a clear fast-running stream that runs out of the Union Parish hills to the Ouachita River, will provide the chief source of water for D'Arbonne Lake. This stream, as local fishermen will testify, is one of the finest for sportsmen, and officials believe the man-made lake, fed by Bayou D'Arbonne, will be just as good. The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission will supervise a development program for the sportsmen at D'Arbonne Lake. (Staff photo by Sam Hanna)

FLOODGATES in the spillway structure will control the water level of D'Arbonne Lake. D'Arbonne commission chairman Armand Rabun of Farmerville, standing at the foot of the floodgates, gives a good indication of the size of the big project. Engineers estimate the lake will contain an average of eight feet of water. Rainwater will help fill the lake once work is completed by January 1, 1963. (Staff photo by Sam Hanna)

Defends General Walker

Harry M. Bell, a Monroe accountant, defends us in the following letter on what we said about Major General Edwin A. Walker, who probably is one of the strongest fighters against communism in the nation today. The letter of defense for us is an answer to a letter of criticism we published from Thomas O. Moses.

Here is Mr. Bell's letter:

Mr. Thomas O. Moses, in his letter to you in last Sunday's paper, criticizes the Monroe Morning World for writing editorials in defense of Major General Edwin A. Walker. Mr. Moses stated that the Monroe Morning World "followed the pattern of half-truths and slanted editorials in order to confuse the public and belittle the present administration."

I do not know where Mr. Moses obtained his information, but here are the facts:

April 9, 1961 - The Overseas Weekly editorially alleged that General Walker's troop information program was a John Birch Society project and that the General had called Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Edward R. Murrow and several other persons "pinkies" in a speech to a PTA group.

April 14, 1961 - General Walker denied these charges.

April 18, 1961 - President Kennedy relieved General Walker of his command, canceled his scheduled promotion, and reassigned him "pending investigation of the charges against him". President Kennedy's action was based on the charge in "Overseas Weekly" and ignored General Walker's denial.

May 31, 1961 - The Army abolished General Walker's information program.

June 12, 1961 - The Secretary of the Army announced that General Walker had been dismissed for making derogatory public statements about prominent Americans.

September 6, 1961 - Secretary of Defense McNamara, in his appearance before the Senate Armed Forces Committee investigating the summary manner of the General's discharge, said that General Walker is a "patriotic, highly motivated man" with a brilliant combat record and sincere of purpose in fighting Communism. McNamara further stated he considered the "Overseas Weekly" a "repulsive and disgraceful publication" but he did not intend to stop distribution of the paper to the troops because he "did not want to violate the freedom of the press". Despite this protection of the freedom of speech of the "Overseas Weekly", McNamara condemned General Walker for exercising this freedom and said he tried to influence the 1960 elections and violated the Hatch Act.

September 10, 1961 - "The Dallas Times Herald" wrote a lead editorial:

"The belated charge by the Secretary of Defense that Major General Edwin A. Walker was relieved of his overseas command for engaging in partisan politics has added more confusion to an already badly muddled and bungled affair. Just who is interested in seeing the general punished?"

Secretary Robert S. McNamara now says that the general tried to influence the 1960 congressional elections, in violation of the Hatch Act.

"The elections took place last year."

"A new administration - and with it Secretary McNamara took office in January (this year)."

"General Walker was relieved of his command . . . in the spring."

"And this charge that he violated the Hatch Act, for which he presumably was punished, is now made in September."

"Under the American system it has been that a man is accused before - not after - he is punished."

September 26, 1961 - Siegfried Naujocks, a reporter for "Overseas Weekly" responsible for the charges against General Walker was convicted in a West German Court of having slandered General Walker.

In its "thorough" examination of General Walker's troop information program, The Army never questioned Major A. E. Roberts who created the program. Major Roberts was brought back to the United States and assigned to the Army Information Section in New York City. On October 1, 1961, he was relieved of this assignment as "unsuitable" because he had written letters defending General Walker.

November 2, 1961 - Major General Walker, on invitation, testified before a hearing of the Senate's Preparedness Subcommittee. It would be worth your time to read the entire testimony, Mr. Moses, but here are some extracts:

"We are at war. We are losing that war every day. We need a substitute for defeat. If it is not within the power of this Congress to provide it - then the people of these United States are not truly represented."

"Failure to know the enemy, failure to prepare completely to battle him to the ultimate in the defense of the United States, only gives him aid and comfort described in our Constitution as treason. There can be no co-existence on the battlefield."

"In Korea, surrounding the Armistice at Haeinbuk, R.H., and the Infantry at Gibraltar, for twenty months, I saw stalemate become a substitute for victory. The moment there became the PW cages. Thirty-three thousand American dead, and more than one hundred thousand Koreans lost, are the monument to the cowardship of victory on the field of battle."

"Over rice with Korean soldiers, I heard from an American major on my staff the disconcerting detail of his experience while serving on the mainland as an advisor to the Nationalist Chinese Army - of shortages of ammunition, and of the sudden recall of all American advisors from China. The Nationalist forces had been in combat readiness, anxious to engage a Communist enemy weakened by long over-extended supply routes. Here, censorship of action through the control of ammunition (and the recall of advisors upon whom there was great reliance) was effective."

"We have yet to agree among ourselves, and with our allies, to reach a simple definition - Communism is the enemy."

"When the soldier understands his heritage and its jeopardy - that soldier sees the enemy and his design; he then becomes an American. He shoulders his responsibility to himself, to his fellow-soldiers, and to his nation."

"In recent years, special interest groups have prevailed upon civilian leaders to employ our military forces on non-military adventures."

In 1957, I was detailed by higher authority to engage in such an operation. As Commander of the Arkansas Military District, I was ordered to receive and command federal troops in what has come to be known as "Operation Little Rock". Federal troops were used, contrary to my personal wishes. I had hoped and prayed that the Army would not become involved in that non-military issue.

Through appropriate military channels, I repeatedly urged that responsibility be restored to the State's National Guard, whose loyalty and dedication to their obligations, however unpleasant, neither I, nor any other U. S. Army officer, has ever had reason to question."

"I submitted my resignation from the United States Army in August, 1959 - Headquarters, Arkansas Military District. The letter said:

"I am in receipt of assignment to the Seventh Army in Europe to command the 24th Infantry Division, which I have looked forward to for many years."

"It is fair to say that in my opinion the 50 United States Congress and the United States Army have minimized or nullified the effectiveness of my ideals and principles, military mission and objectives, and the necessary American public spirit to support sons and soldiers. I have no further desire for military service at the time with this conspiracy and its influences on the home front."

"I respectfully request that my resignation from the United States Army be accepted and become effective immediately."

"My request was denied by order of the Secretary of the Army."

"It is the expressed decision of higher echelons that I may not provide my fellow-soldiers with the degree of information that I consider imperative to their morale and their capacity to survive."

"In my position, I may not question the authority of that decision, but a lifetime of training directed toward defense and survival, cries out against the wisdom of it."

"My decision continues to reflect the West Point Code: 'to choose the harder right, instead of the easier wrong' . . . a code I have imposed on every soldier I ever served in leadership or spirit."

"It has been burden enough for a troop commander to make an American of a man, before really beginning to make a soldier of him. And make no mistake, it is not possible to make a soldier of a man who has not first become a dedicated American."

"It will be my purpose now, as a civilian, to attempt to do what I have found it no longer possible to do in uniform."

War has been declared. Every man is a soldier. I think of the words of the Marine General to his men: 'We are surrounded. We must not let them get away.'

The material supplied by General Walker's information program to the troops was an analysis of the voting record of each member in the Congress of the United States. Research conducted by the Americans for Constitutional Action, published in 1960 by "Human Events." I have a copy in my office if you care to examine it. Mr. Moses. The program was to inform the troops of the public record - not to tell them for whom to vote.

Has not your curiosity been aroused by the machinations of our Department of State which admitted supporting Castro's seizure of control of Cuba from Batista (an anti-Communist), and the headlines in the paper this week concerning Secretary of State Rusk's threat of armed intervention if the Trujillo (anti-Communist) are restored control

Nuclear Fear Greatest In U.S.

By CHARLES O. GRIDLEY

What has puzzled Washington observers right along has been the fear of nuclear war in this capital is greater than in the free capitals of Europe. That cannot be said about other types of war, for American troops may still fight in southeast Asia.

That would be a limited war, and talks with several qualified military authorities give the impression that while there will be no war over Berlin, the war tension has not slackened sufficiently to enable the U.S. and other allied free nations to sit back and relax.

Not since World War II has the world been so jammed with military force, never before has it been so stocked with potential destruction. In these times, fear is to be expected, for it is justified. But that it should be so extensive can only be explained by the statement, "We would be the first target of an atomic attack."

This is an assumption which is questioned by some military experts here who have been assigned to study the offensive threats facing this nation. They are inclined more and more to doubt the possibility of atomic attack. If there is to be war, they see more possibility of a limited or conventional war, though it would follow no pattern established by history and might quickly reach the nuclear stage.

Their private opinion is that the overall chances of war have been at least temporarily diminished by the Communists' own trouble at home in both Moscow and Peking. Nikita Khrushchev's difficulties with dissident factions are by no means minor, and the Chinese internal troubles, both agricultural and industrial give the Red rulers there no encouragement to start the big war they talked of so menacingly a year ago.

The analysts concede that Khrushchev might find himself in such a pincer that an accidental war would be his best out, but no totalitarian ruler is ever sufficiently prepared for war, as Hitler and Mussolini learned to their sorrow.

This accidental war might be triggered in Cuba where menacing gestures are regularly made by Fidel Castro against the Guantanamo Naval base, which the U. S. intends to maintain at all costs.

The estimate here is that there would never make a real military gesture against the base without Russian or Chinese incitation (the two groups do not always work together in Cuba). Stories of missile bases in Cuba directed toward the U. S. have never been confirmed. If they do exist, the Central Intelligence Agency almost certainly has knowledge of them.

The East Berlin situation unquestionably irritates the Russians, but there is no real threat there, unless a situation should arise in which the U. S. could be made to seem the aggressor. Khrushchev has lost face among the neutral nations because of East Berlin, and the U. S. has possibly gained some. Only bungling there by the free western governments could cause a real armed conflict in the view of observers on the spot.

This does not mean that U. S. military experts think the long term threat of war is dwindling. Russia's every menacing move is cause for concern, but the concern is not all for Europe and Africa. Some of it is for the Pacific, where we were caught napping before. Since then two new states have been created, both many miles from other U. S. territory.

Soviet Russia undoubtedly has plans for attacks from Asiatic bases on both Alaska and Hawaii, in which Communist China would be a collaborator.

With this in mind, U. S. military planners will soon release information about the storage of missiles in the Pacific northwest area, where some 700 storage "silos" have been constructed. These "silos" are deep excavations in which missiles can be stored indefinitely. How they would be used has not been disclosed, but it is presumed that they could be moved to Alaska on short notice to be fired at Asiatic targets from bases there and to prevent landing of ground forces in Alaska.

The possibility of war will not end soon, the experts believe, but it can be lessened as Moscow realizes that the Russian mainland can be badly hurt. The line of separation between limited and nuclear war is at most a matter of military and technical distinctions, though strategy and tactics would be vastly different.

REPORT FROM LONDON

Honesty Is The Best Policy For The West

By HOLMES ALEXANDER
(Special to The World)

LONDON, ENGLAND - Africans, Asians everywhere! The English university cities, this great capital city, the provincial towns and sightseeing spots are flashing with white teeth, black faces, and the purple and golden robes of the visitors from hot countries. It is as if the traveler to Cambridge and London had never left Georgetown and Washington.

No harm would come of the vast visitation by the colored peoples if only we Anglo-Americans didn't fall into a fawning spasm of humbug over the situation. Attorney General Kennedy, his brother's political manager, starts warning up for the next election by declining to belong to a Washington businessmen's club which won't automatically take in 20-some new African nations' ambassadors.

From what statesmen on both sides say, you'd think that the American Constitution and the Magna Carta were products of the African bush and the Southeast Asian jungles. In church the other day, I was in range of a run-away preacher who uniquely interpreted the Prodigal Son parable to mean that Western Civilization is the result of stay-at-home sons who behaved so badly when his ne'er-do-well brother came home.

It is the humbug and hypocrisy of mid-century thinking that is likely to be our undoing. Shortly before leaving Washington, some of us were briefed by a top Kennedy Administration ambassadorial type who gave one of those groveling performances in which he described the fear and distrust in which the underdeveloped nations hold the U.S. Why this should be, he didn't say, and probably couldn't - but it was put forward as a reason for the irrational of our official attitude of "Excuse us, please" toward the new nations.

The truthful position between Anglo-American and Afro-Asia is something very different. They are our poor relatives. Everybody except you and I, have the kind of the government of the Dominican Republic?

These are the facts which have been accurately and timely reported in the Monroe Morning World. We should be thankful for an editorial staff which goes to the trouble and expense of reporting the truth to its readers rather than only printing the "half-truths and slanted" news received from the wire releases.

Very truly yours,
HARRY M. BELL
Certified Public Accountant

which Charles Lamb described in one of his celebrated Essays of Elia. He wrote:

"A poor relation is a preposterous shadow, lengthening in the noontide of your prosperity - an unwelcome reminder upon your pride - a drawback upon success - a rebuke to your rising - a rent in your garment a frog in your chamber - a triumph to your enemy - an apology to your friends - the one thing not needful . . ."

We would be much wiser in the West if we could be as frank as this. Nobody, whatever his own means, would turn a poor relative from the door and send him away hungry. Nobody, visiting wealthy kinsfolk, would rightfully want to overstay his welcome and demand more than his share of hospitality. If this were the West's attitude toward the new nations, and the new nations' attitude toward the West, all of us honestly would like and understand the rest of us better.

But humbug and bunkum are the marks of these tormented times. Instead of treating Ban-the-Bomb squatters for the lunatics at large that they are, the Macmillan government goes on pretending that they are sane and serious demonstrators for a respectable minority opinion. The British magazine, "New Borings," a non-partisan review, recently published "A Symposium of Representative Views on the Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament and the World Situation." Here are some extracts as reprinted in the London Daily Telegraph.

A magazine editor: "I hate England, of course, and . . . ought to be pleased at the idea of its being wiped out by Russian H-Bombs. But unfortunately that would mean there would be no more public schoolboys left to be shot or walked up alive by the Red Army."

A poet: "When I tried to spit on Mr. Gaitskill at Leeds last summer, I was arrested by Fascist policemen. That convinced me that the American bases must go."

A self-styled humanist: "I am told that Mr. Khrushchev cried all night when the Americans, by their provocative attitude over Berlin, forced him to resume teleging."

A university vice-chancellor: "The only valid question to be asked about any political system is: Does it have a sound attitude toward scientific education? The Russian system, quite unlike any others, can face this question with confidence."

Having known some nuclear pacifists at home and having heard and read some of the interviews during Ban-the-Bomb sit-

Stories Please

O'Hara

ASSEMBLY. By John O'Hara. Random House. $5.95.

In his foreword O'Hara says that after 11 years of not writing short stories, he found it a joy to discover that "I could begin again and do it better." There are 28 tales in this array, most of them written in the summer of 1960.

The best story of the lot is the one that opens the book, "Mrs. Stratton of Oak Knoll," a fascinating expedition into the mind of a matriarch who is trying to salvage the wreckage of her son's life, and is brought around to a solution by an understanding artist.

Not all these pieces are stories, in the older sense of the word, as many of them are simply slices of life.

They have a pretty wide social range, from a bartender on the make, and a boxer who can't give up his hunger for adulation, to a suburban colony, a recluse and the tennis set.

There also is a short piece in the form of a speech given by an old newspaper editor to a bunch of high school kids, about a popular singer of years ago, and this one has real punch.

One situation that crops up rather frequently in these pages is the mellowed, but still poignant, sadness with which middle-aged people look back on broken romances, wrong marriages and long-remembered torch carrying.

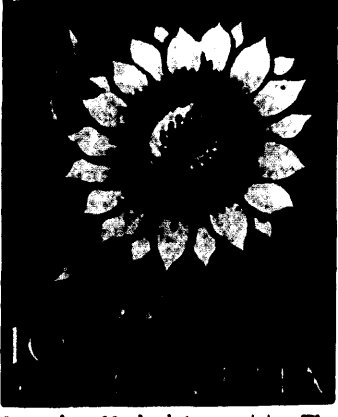

O'Hara says he wrote these tales for his own pleasure, and that half the fun was the hard work of the diligent craftsman. He still knows how to put words together.

Switzerland, the land of picturesque scenery and equally attractive postage stamps has issued its 1961 Pro Juventute set, advises the Swiss Philatelic Agency in America.

There are five stamps in the 1961 set. The 5 centimes plus 5 dark blue depicts the portrait of Jonas Furrer (1805-1865) who devoted his energies to the building and development of the young Swiss Republic. The other four denominations continue the "Flowers" series begun in 1958.

The 10 centimes plus 10 shows the sunflower. The 20 c plus 10 features a lily of the valley. The 30 c plus 10 depicts an iris. The 50 c plus 10 illustrates silverweed.

Swiss postal officials have announced that 90 per cent of the net proceeds from the additional charge on each stamp goes to the Pro Juventute Foundation for its various youth relief work. The remaining 10 per cent is for building the Swiss Families and Children's Holiday Village of Pro Juventute.

Here are the latest details on the new United Nations stamp honoring the 15th anniversary of the United Nations Children's Fund for issuance on Dec. 4.

The stamp will be issued in 3-cent, 4-cent and 13-cent denominations. The design consists of a mother bird feeding its young and features the UNICEF Seal.

There is a language border "United Nations" in English, Chinese, French, Spanish and Russian. In the upper right corner are the years "1946-1961."

The Republic of China has commemorated the 50th anniversary of the Chinese Institute of Engineers by issuing four new stamps. The new stamps help to publicize to the world the accelerated industrial development taking place on Taiwan and simultaneously celebrate the golden anniversary of the Institute of Engineers. Depicted on the stamps are an oil refinery, modern steel works, aluminum manufacturing and a fertilizer plant.

Liberia has issued a bicolored set of stamps commemorating the sesquicentennial of the birth of Joseph L. Roberts, that country's first president. The 5 cent shows a portrait of Roberts and the Roberts memorial monument in Monrovia. The 10 cent features a portrait of Roberts, the first presidential residence and the present one. The 25 cent depicts a portrait of Roberts and a view of Providence Island where Liberia's first settlers landed.

downs, I at first took these quotations to be genuine. Perhaps the measure of the lunacy is that it's so difficult these days to tell bona fide Leftist raving from a clever take-off on the same.

Guide To Good Reading

By FRANCES FLANDERS

Ouachita Parish Librarian

If there is anyone in Ouachita Parish who has any doubt about the amount of references to which the people of the Parish get from the Ouachita Parish Public Library, I wish that person could have visited any of the libraries during the past week. The students of the public schools and many college students were out of school and they all had a vast amount of reference work to take care of. Some days it took several people to help them find the material which they needed. We are delighted that they make use of the libraries and that we have the books which they want to read. Each week new books are added to the library and this week there is again a variety of material. Gladys H. Barr, has written a new novel based on the life of John Calvin, which she calls "The Master of Geneva."

This is a very fine study of the man who had such a profound effect upon the Protestant reformation of the fifteenth century.

One of the reasons why the Ouachita Parish Public Library is used so much, is because we spend a much larger part of our income on books than most libraries do. We are doing everything we possibly can to bring the book collection up to the standards set by the American Library Association. They say that we should have one book per person, which would mean that our library should have 101,000 books.

We now have over 70,000 volumes and I estimate that we shall be up to the standard at the end of 1962. Of course we could get there sooner if we had more money and more people to catalog and process the books but we are adding many interesting titles each week. Most of the new books added this week are in the field of non-fiction and have a definite place in our collection.

"A Hard Look at Adult Christian Education" by John R. Fry is an evaluation of the efforts of the churches to interest the adult members of the congregation. "One Great Ground of Hope" by Henry Finney Van Dusen is a plea for Christian missions and Christian unity. An interesting book is the field of sociology is "What About Teen-Age Marriage?" This book should be read by every teen-ager and ever parent of teen-agers who is thinking of making this step. It will not be found on the open shelves, but each branch has a copy and you can have it if you ask for it.

An interesting book in the field of business is "Understanding Financial Statements and Corporate Annual Reports" by Louis O. Foster. This is a very valuable book and should help many people. Books about famous crimes are always popular. "Chronicle of Crime" by Eleanor Dabrowska is an account of the Lord Mother Association. They say that we well story and it makes exciting reading. Two very useful books for women are "Women's Guide to Earning a Good Living" by Elmer Winter and "Every woman's Book of Health" by Manning Davis. Both of these books are helpful and useful. Men who have home workshops will want to read "How to Choose and Use Power Tools" by R. J. De Cristoforo. This is almost a must for the man who has a home workshop.

Although the Library has almost every gardening book published, there is always a demand for more. "Variegated foliage Plants" by Paul Fischer is the latest title in the field in the library collection. "How to Do Card Tricks and Entertain People" will appeal to the young men who are interested in magic. Dore Schary has done a dramatization of the "Devil's Advocate" by Rebecca West. If the play has the impact of the novel, it should be very good. Two interesting travel books are: "The Cloud Forest" by Peter Matheson and "The Blue of Capricorn" by Eugene Burdick. The first books deals with the South American wilderness and the second with the South Pacific.

T. H. Tetens has written a frightening book called "New Germany and the Old Nazis." It is one which the student of international affairs should at least consider. Books about the Spanish-American war are very scarce and we are always happy when a new one is released. The latest one is called "Charge!" and was written by Anastasio Carlos Azoy. It is an account of the battle of San Juan Hill. A biography which will appeal especially to Catholic readers is "St. Teresa of Avila" by John Bevers. An interesting book which is classified as a children's book, but can be used by readers of all ages is "The Russian Alphabet book" by Fan Parker.

There are several new books for teen-agers here. "Crazy Legs McBain" by Joseph Archibald will appeal to boys and there are three new titles for girls. They are "The Callahan Girls" by Carole Bolton, "Fancy Free" by Betty Cavanna and "Sandra Surgical Nurse" by Patti Stone.

In the last few months the library has added many extremely beautiful books. There are three which fall into this class this week and I want to call them to your attention. "The Dawn of Civilization" by Stuart Pigott is the first world survey of human cultures in early times. It is beautifully illustrated and is a fascinating book. It begins with the stone age and takes up all ancient peoples in all parts of the world. This is really a magnificent book and one which the library was only able to purchase with memorial book funds. We are fortunate that we were able to get two copies of this book as memorial gifts. Another lovely book is "Caribbean Seashells," also a memorial book. It is most valuable to the shell collector and is illustrated in black and white and color. "A Book of London" edited by Ivor Brown is not the conventional guide book, although it can be used as one. It contains all sorts of interesting and unusual information about this city, which has a special appeal for Americans.

Duo-Pianist Team Shakes Money Tree

By JOHN CALE

Putting music on the delayed entry list for the season - lecturers and actors were here for the kickoff - the duo - piano team of Ferrante and Teicher will start the ball rolling in that field tomorrow on the La. Tech series.

The two pianists will perform twice (both of them, yes) at 8 p.m. Monday and Tuesday in Tech's Howard auditorium. The performance tomorrow is, generally speaking, for the series public membership and the Tuesday program is for Louisiana Tech students.

MADISON AVENUE

No doubt, the pianist have a good program at their finger tips and won't spare the horses in Ruston or elsewhere. But there is an alarming overtone in their Madison Avenue "blurb" which agents hope will enlarge the audiences.

Billed "Ferrante and Teicher Flip Their Lids," the writers go on to say the program ranges from popular music and show tunes to "pop" classics . . . featuring their droll approach to the Steinway that makes that august instrument sound like anything from a bongo drum to a bass fiddle.

Then comes the admission that things may have been better before public tastes and demands supposedly grew worse.

"Initially trained in the classics," the notes on Ferrante and Teicher run, "they have made the transition to more popular fare with facility and success, as

Mark Twain Comments

About Life

LIFE AS I FIND IT. By Mark Twain. Edited by Charles Neider. Hanover House. Distributed by Doubleday. $4.95.

These are short pieces, most of them done by Twain for magazines, and except for a few that appeared in limited editions, they are gathered into book form here for the first time.

Some public letters and a few speeches also are included, and although not everything in the book is important, all the items bear Twain's characteristic touches.

There is a political fable, "The Curious Republic of Gondour," that reminds you Twain could be as penetrating as any commentator who ever lived.

Representing his talent for social criticism is the "Open Letter to Commodore Vanderbilt," which does such an effective job of skinning the Commodore's hide that nowadays the Russians are making use of it as anti-capitalist literature.

Twain's deep capacity for moral indignation also is evidenced by two more examples. One is "The Indignity Put Upon the Remains of George Holland by the Rev. Mr. Sabine," a bitter denunciation of a narrow-minded preacher who refused a church funeral to an actor.

'Blue Hawaii' Continues At Jim Theatre

Hal Wallis' "Blue Hawaii," starring Elvis Presley in a Panavision Technicolor production filmed on location in the 50th state is being held over this week at the Jim Theatre.

Elvis sings more songs than in any previous picture in his screen career in this Paramount attraction which co-stars Joan Blackman, Nancy Walters and Angela Lansbury. Norman Taurig, who directed Elvis in his recent hit, "G. I. Blues," also directed the new film.

FREE SINGING

In "Blue Hawaii," Elvis plays a free-singing, ukulele-strumming tourist guide hired to take a group of impressionable school girls on an escorted tour of the islands. A romantic triangle develops involving Miss Blackman, a beautiful French-Hawaiian girl, and Miss Walters, in the role of a vacationing school teacher.

"Blue Hawaii" features 15 songs and musical arrangements, including the title song, "Aloha

During the location filming of "Blue Hawaii" in the islands, it is estimated that a grand total of 1,485 local residents were engaged to play bit parts. Filming was centered on the islands of Oahu and Kauai.

TOP ATTRACTIONS

Top tourist attractions seen in the film include Waikiki Beach, Diamond Head, Mount Tantalus, Hanalei Bay, Punchbowl and Coco Palms.

PLIOHIPPIUS? Page Is Cast In Nun Roll

A pliohippus is an extinct mammal, the ancestor of the modern horse.

The science of paleontology, the study of ancient life on the globe, is constantly revealing facts pertinent to a better understanding of life on the earth today. Yet many potential scientists may never pursue this subject because they may never go to college. Already many colleges are overcrowded and in 10 years applications will double. We will need more and better college laboratories and thousands more of the highest quality professors.

Writing Team Given Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Howard Lindsay and Russell Crouse, a writing team for 20 years, have been awarded the annual citation of the New England Theater Conference for outstanding creative achievement.

Broadway luminaries who previously were honored include Moss Hart, Joe Mielziner, Joshua Logan, Richard Rodgers and the late Oscar Hammerstein II.

Theater Tax Relief Sought

NEW YORK (AP) — Tax relief for the Broadway theater business can be obtained only through a "massive campaign" by show folk, Rep. John V. Lindsay (R-N.Y.) told a drama gathering.

"The country as a whole, North and South, East and West couldn't care less about the theater's problems," the congressman said. "People assume the theater will go on forever. How wrong they are."

Lindsay, whose home district includes the White Way, said that besides repeal of the 10 per cent federal tax on tickets, the theater would benefit through reexamination of property levies and extension of capital gains privilege to dramatists.

Actress Makes Fable Reality

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cinderella fable still comes true on Broadway. At least for Elizabeth Ashley.

Miss Ashley auditioned for a lead role in "Take Her, She's Mine" for director George Abbott and producer Hal Prince. As she walked toward the elevator, Prince called after her. "Miss Ashley, I know this is unheard of, but the part is yours."

The 21-year-old actress previously had been understudy to Barbara Bel Geddes in "Mary, Mary." She arrived in New York from her native Baton Rouge, La., three years ago.

SOUTHERN PRONUNCIATION
NEW YORK (AP) — Ossie Davis got his first name because of a clerical mixup over a southern accent.

His family, the 32-year-old actor recalls, intended to name him after his great father, Richard Chapman Davis. When his birth certificate was sent to him in Waycross, Ga., however, the clerk simply added the name of his given name, and the R. C. officially was put down as Ossie.

Curtain Call

Our traveled member, Marilyn Taylor, brings back enthusiastic accounts of her visit. London theatre, where she saw "Teresa of Avila," "Bird of Time" and a delightful comedy, "The Irregular Verb to Love." Also in London, Marilyn saw "Ross," in which the part of Lawrence of Arabia was played by Michael Bryant, whose first great success was in the part of the German tutor in "Five Finger Exercise" presently in rehearsal at the Strauss Playhouse. At the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre includes the White Way, she saw the all-time favorite "Hamlet," something to remember always. Next week Curtain Call quote Marilyn on shows she saw in New York.

The Art Show, sponsored by the Junior Charity League and held in the Strauss Playhouse, was a challenging exhibit of modern pictures by Louisiana artists, including two offerings by Monroe artists, Martha Goethals and Bess James. The judges, Ed Schutz, Carl Miffel and Judy Evans, chose Paul Ninas' entry as the best of the show.

Pat and Richard Clark went to New Orleans last week end to see Stocker Fontelle's production of "Five Finger Exercise." They reported the play had a very successful run in New Orleans with excellent audience response. On the way home Pat and Richard stopped over in Baton Rouge to look over the new Little Theatre building there.

George Brian's presentation of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" recently offered at North-east Louisiana State College was greatly enjoyed by the many Little Theatre members attending. It must be very nice to succeed as a producer as well as an actor.

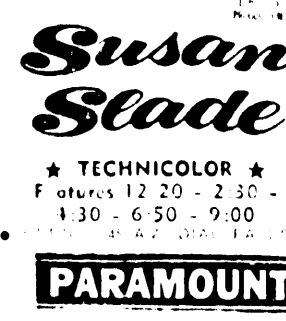

Our budget chairman, Bud Henry, entertained the budget committee at a supper party at the Rendezvous, at which time he presented the new budget which was approved by the committee. It will be submitted to the Little Theatre Board at its next meeting on Nov. 30th. The members who enjoyed Bud's hospitality were: Mary Gill, Frances McHenry, Walter Kellogg, Jack Maden, Bob Evans, Larry Shipman, and Richard Clark.

Curtain Call went out to a recent rehearsal of our new play, "Five Finger Exercise." We are always amazed how very much a "show biz" goes into the perfecting of a single line — e.g. here the working and experimenting with the bit about the woman and the twelve little circle. And his the way, do remember that reservations for "Five Finger Exercise" should be made early. The box office will open Wednesday and November 29th at one p.m. and thereafter every day 1 to 4 p.m. for the run of the show — December 1 to through December 4th.

Science For You

PROBLEM: Marriage of the water drops.
NEEDED: A piece of clean glass and some water drops.
DO THIS: Place drops close together on the glass. They will move closer until they join together.
HERE'S WHY: Molecules of water attract one another. Gravity flattens the drops on the glass until they touch each other; surface tension then pulls them to a common center of mass. The surface tension, which acts something like a stretched rubber sheet, combines the separate drops so that they have a shape with the least possible surface.
The surface tension is greater than the force of cohesion between the water and the glass.
Dirty glass would reduce the surface tension of the water.
A collection of the Science For You experiments is in book form, called "Science Circus."

Cash, Bonds Stolen From Area Store

WINNSBORO (Special)—Cash and savings bonds totaling close to $500 were taken in a Friday night burglary of Lofton's Drug store at 616 Prairie St., marking the third burglary in Winnsboro this week.

The break-in was discovered when the store was opened at 7 a.m. Saturday.

An outside padlock on the front door had been pried off, hole knocked in the front door glass and the inside lock unlatched from the inside.

Approximately $33 in change and bills were taken from the cash register. A steel filing cabinet was pried open and a fireproof, locked metal box was taken.

W. D. Lofton, owner, said the box contained all of his insurance policies and $425 or $450 in savings bonds.

Lofton said an undetermined amount of merchandise was missing.

The padlock on the inside of the back door was torn off and the burglar or burglars evidently left by the back door.

The lock of the front door is missing according to authorities. This is the third burglary to occur in Winnsboro this week.

On Wednesday night, Moore's Jewelry Store, located across the street from Lofton's Drug Store, was victim of a burglary when a hole was knocked in the plate glass front and seven watches, ranging in value from $45 to $78 each, were taken.

On the same night, Walley Brothers' Service Station, located across the street from the court house and the sheriff's office, was broken into.

The hasp was pried off the front door and approximately $10 taken from the cash register and one car battery taken.

Franklin Parish Sheriff A. J. Stephens said Saturday night that four persons have been picked up and are being held for questioning.

Pitcher Claims Right To Keep Reports Secret

BATON ROUGE (AP)—East Baton Rouge parish Dist. Atty. Sargent Pitcher says he has as much right to keep confidential reports and files as the federal government.

Pitcher made the claim Friday in briefs filed in U.S. District Court in a case concerning allegations that the American Friends Service Committee's telephones were tapped by segregationists.

U.S. Atty. M. Hepburn Many is trying to get Pitcher to appear with his records before a federal grand jury at New Orleans. Many says he can prove Pitcher was in the room when wiretap recordings were played back.

Pitcher, denying the charge, is trying to quash federal subpoenas to appear before the grand jury. In a letter to Many, he offered to exchange confidential material with the U.S. attorney. Many was unavailable for comment.

FINLAND BASES

Soviet Premier Agrees To Delay

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev agreed to "postpone" military consultations with Finland after Finnish President Urho Kekkonen suggested that such talks could increase war fears, a joint communique announced Saturday.

Khrushchev met with Kekkonen in the Siberian city of Novosibirsk Friday to discuss the Soviet note calling for cooperation in mutual defense measures against what the Russians termed the growing West German threat in northern Europe.

The joint communique issued Saturday said Kekkonen told Khrushchev that military consultations presumably would lead to Russian requests for concessions which "would cause a certain amount of tension and war psychosis in the Scandinavian countries."

Observers in Moscow said they believed Kekkonen's mention of concessions referred to possible demands for the establishment of Soviet bases in Finnish territory. Scandinavian sources were scandalously relieved by the outcome of the Khrushchev-Kekkonen meeting. They said that by all accounts, Kekkonen's mission must be considered a success for Finland.

The importance the Russians themselves attached to the meeting was manifested by the interruption of a Moscow radio home service program for a five-minute reading of the communique as reported by the official news agency Tass.

The communique said Khrushchev expressed confidence in Kekkonen's ability to continue the present policy of friendship toward the Soviet Union.

"The Soviet government," it said, "believes it can postpone the military consultations which the Soviet government had suggested."

The communique said Khrushchev pointed out that the Soviet Union and Finland should continue to watch developments in northern Europe and the Baltic area. It expressed hope that Finland would, if necessary, submit to the Soviet Union her ideas on the necessary measures to protect the borders of the two countries.

At their meeting, the communique said, Khrushchev presented "the point of view which com-

Nasser Plans For Reforms In Elections

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—President Nasser put into motion Saturday a new experimental political program he said will lead to a more popular parliament and a permanent constitution.

"Your mission is a delicate one," Nasser told 250 appointed members of the preparatory committee of the National Congress of Popular Forces, representing workers, farmers, professional men and all classes of Egyptian society.

Speaking quietly and firmly, Nasser gave committee members one month to arrange free elections for a new national congress and to define its structure. Congress is to convene in January and prepare further reforms.

"You are bearing the first in the first step for a popular organization capable of pushing ahead the true revolution," he told the committee.

The congress Nasser ordered is to revamp the old National Union—the only political organization—and hold elections for constituent committees in every village and town.

Then a general National Union Congress will be formed to write a constitution to replace the present provisional one.

Nasser's new program aims at strengthening his support after sweeping socialization measures last summer and Syria's breakaway from his United Arab Republic in September.

It shifts the emphasis of the regime's support from dependence on the military to the grass roots to level with a broadly based political party.

"In 1960," Nasser said, "I felt the revolution began to falter. Capitalism began to infiltrate even the government. Reactionism was infiltrating and beginning to assume highly serious proportions," Nasser said, adding that even the National Union had been headed by reactionaries against the socialist regime.

Since the Syrian revolution, Nasser has rounded up scores of alleged reactionaries and capitalists considered a hindrance to government programs.

Fatality Toll For Area At Two Persons

Northeast Louisiana held its breath while heavy holiday traffic continued on the move but late last night had recorded only two fatalities, both of them near Ferriday.

Killed in a head-on collision five miles south of Ferriday Wednesday night was John Miller, 27, Negro of Ferriday. A Jonesville oil field worker, James D. Watson, 25, died two hours after another collision south of Ferriday Friday night.

A passenger in Watson's car, Delbert Allen, 28, also of Jonesville, was severely injured. Both were taken to a Ferriday hospital following the collision.

According to Troop F, State police located here, traffic accidents have been few since the Thanksgiving holiday period officially began Wednesday midnight.

The two accidents near Ferriday have been the only ones of major catastrophe in the area since the holiday began, troopers said.

City police recorded a number of minor accidents the day before the holidays, but since then accidents have been held down to a minimum. Monroe Chief James C. Kelly Jr. and West Monroe Chief Jeff W. Caldwell and State Police Captain M. E. Kidd all said drivers seemed to have been more on the alert during the holiday traffic.

However, the fatality toll will not officially end until midnight tonight. All three law agencies continued to urge motorists to drive carefully and not wind up a statistic.

In the accident in which the Ferriday Negro was killed Wednesday night, the driver of the other car which Miller struck, was unharmed. He was identified as Chester Head, 33 of Houma. However, Head's wife, Evelyn, 27, was treated for minor injuries at the Ferriday hospital while their two children were uninjured.

In the Friday night collision which occurred around 9:30 p.m., an automobile driven by Nathaniel Holmes, of Bastrop, struck the rear of the Watson car. A third vehicle, a pickup truck, was also involved, but no other persons were injured outside of Watson, passenger, Allen.

The victim was identified by a classmate, Sue Burris, 16, and her father, the Rev. Clyde Burris. The minister said it appeared there had been a "real hard struggle."

One end of the long scarf had been tied to the tree.

State Trooper Richard F. Copeland said she "might have been hanged."

Her ripped underclothing and her glasses were a few feet from the body. Her dress, coat and sweater were badly disarranged.

Police launched an intensive hunt to find the girl called Carol, but Mary's family and friends said they were not aware of the victim known anyone with that name.

Her parents, Charles Koonitz, 37, and Maxine, 43, were not at home when Mary left for the last time. Her brother said she had received a phone call just before going out.

Her English teacher at Penn High School in nearby Mishawaka, James Cierznak, described her as quiet, reserved and deeply religious. He said most of her themes dwelled on religion. She was not known well by most of her freshmen classmates.

L. E. Williamson, 82, Succumbs: Services Today

RUSTON (Special)—L. E. Williamson, 82, died Saturday afternoon in a Ruston hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Williamson, a native of Alabama, has lived in Ruston for about 38 years.

Young Girl Is Strangled With Scarf

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—The body of a 14-year-old schoolgirl was found Saturday in a woods near her suburban Osceola home.

Police said Mary Koonitz, described as quiet and deeply religious, apparently had been raped, then strangled with her own red and white scarf. She had been missing since Thanksgiving evening.

Police said she was last seen by a younger brother when she left home Thursday night. She told her brother she was going to a church supper with a friend named Carol. The friend was not further identified.

The body was found by John W. Green, 15, and Gerald Hurst, 14, both of Osceola, who were hunting quail. It was at the foot of a tree about three blocks from the Koonitz home.

The victim was identified by a classmate, Sue Burris, 16, and her father, the Rev. Clyde Burris. The minister said it appeared there had been a "real hard struggle."

One end of the long scarf had been tied to the tree.

State Trooper Richard F. Copeland said she "might have been hanged."

Her ripped underclothing and her glasses were a few feet from the body. Her dress, coat and sweater were badly disarranged.

Police launched an intensive hunt to find the girl called Carol, but Mary's family and friends said they were not aware of the victim known anyone with that name.

Her parents, Charles Koonitz, 37, and Maxine, 43, were not at home when Mary left for the last time. Her brother said she had received a phone call just before going out.

Her English teacher at Penn High School in nearby Mishawaka, James Cierznak, described her as quiet, reserved and deeply religious. He said most of her themes dwelled on religion. She was not known well by most of her freshmen classmates.

Party Is Given For Caroline By Grandfather

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Caroline Kennedy, who will be 4 years old Monday, had a second birthday party Saturday.

Her grandfather, Joseph P. Kennedy, gave the party at his big oceanfront summer home.

Granddad Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain, was practically overwhelmed by the offspring of three sons and three daughters.

Blonde Caroline was the queen bee for the day—and, for that matter, almost any other day.

Fourteen of Caroline's cousins, including seven children of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, were on hand to present gifts and cheer as she blew out the four candles on her birthday cake.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy Jr., who was 1 year old Saturday, missed the festivities.

John Jr., who has a cold, remained in the White House in charge of nurse Maud Shaw.

The President and First Lady had planned to bring John Jr. here for his birthday, but his cold, described as slight, persisted. So his mother decided it would be best to let him stay home.

Some Rebuff Communion Unity Plan

By GEORGE CORNELL

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The mixed hosts of Christianity were invited Saturday to come together to the Lord's table—Communion. But some made it clear in advance they would not share it with the others.

It underscored a basic dividing line among the churches as representatives of most denominations around the globe worked to find ways to heal the breaches.

"We do not believe in intercommunion," said Eastern Orthodox Bishop Anthony Bloom of London. "We believe it is the sacrament of unity and not the way of achieving it."

Different positions were brought out on the matter on the eve of an historic open Communion to be celebrated Sunday by an Anglican-Lutheran general extension division body. It is the Church of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon.

Ordinarily, the Anglican Church of England services are cooperative in presenting the pro-posed except to members of gramthose belonging to other churches with which specific concordats of intercommunion are established. In this case, however, explained Bishop de Mel, there will be a temporary suspension of the regulations as an act of Christian charity.

"We are doing this among people who are concerned about church unity and who are working toward it," he said. "It would be frivolous to hold such a service except among those who believe we are all one in Christ."

The rite is the oldest in Christendom, ordained when Christ shared bread and wine with his apostles, calling the nourishment his body and blood and telling his followers to continue it in his memory.

This will be the first time an Anglican church has offered an open Communion at the World Council of Churches assembly. Delegates are here from 198 denominations with more than 300 million members in 60 nations for the most widely varied church gathering ever held.

Camera Notes

By IRVING DEAFOR
AP Newfeatures

It's rewarding to discover that the photo fields are green on your side of the fence, in your own backyard and in your home city. Most camera fans tend to reserve their efforts for a trip, vacation or special occasion and neglect the photogenic aspects of events in their normal routines.

You can verify this observation only by exerting a special effort. And it does take a special effort to carry a camera daily. But since women have a handbag with them at all times and business-men tote a brief case on their rounds, it shouldn't be too difficult to accept the idea of carrying a camera regularly.

Somehow, with a camera in our hands, we see everything differently. We are looking for pictures so life around us becomes a continually changing stage. The only reward comes when we can freeze the action for an instant or capture the setting in a meaningful mood.

The other evening when driving home over one of New York City's bridges, the setting sun presented an unusually beautiful picture behind the Manhattan skyscrapers. "If I were on vacation in a foreign city," I thought, "this is the type of photo I'd go after. Why not now?"

So this time I abandoned my regular schedule since my cameras were in the car. As soon as the car was parked safely off the bridge, I hiked back over a foot-walk to the elevation which had looked so appealing in passing. I stopped several times to shoot different aspects of the sunset in both color and black and white.

The unexpected diversion might be summed up like this:
Lost: One hour and a half.
Gained: a. Some beneficial exercise. b. The prolonged pleasure of viewing nature's wonder, and c. A permanent picture treasure that will return many rewarding moments in the future for many others besides the photographer.

Not every picture-taking opportunity winds up with such favorable odds. But you must be prepared for opportunity's knock. In the meantime you can play the "guessing game."

Wherever you go, guess the exposure under various lighting conditions. Then check with a light meter and see how your guess rates.

Guess distances also and then check with your rangefinder to see how far off or how close you were. You will gradually acquire a knack for gauging exposure and focus settings with reasonable accuracy.

Your guesses will sharpen your observations, make you think and free you from complete dependence on meter and rangefinder for some occasions which might require lightning-fast calculations.

When carrying a camera it could be preset for instant shooting with a universal setting, depending on the type of film being used. With a fast film, I set the light meter at 15 feet focus and an exposure of 1-100th at f-8.
